Both Fronts Erupt in Heavy Fighting

By United Press International
Israel and Egypt are fighting "large scale armor battles" in the Sinai desert east of the Suez canal, Israel said today.
Amman radio announced that Jordanian forces with the support of Syrian dive bombers attacked six Israeli positions on the Golan Heights of Syria at dawn and destroyed nine Centurion tanks in a "fierce" battle that lasted until noon.

While the battle was in progress in the Sinai, there was no word of the Israeli task force which slipped across the canal into Egypt Tuesday to hit at the anti-aircraft and artillery positions that have provided the umbrella for the 100,000-man Egyptian army which had advanced three or more miles beyond the waterway.

Israel has not yet announced the task force's withdrawal, Egypt said Tuesday it had destroyed three of its seven amphibious tanks and was after the others, but a later communique was silent about the task force.

where analysts believe the decisive battles will be fought.
An Israeli military spokesman announced that the "large-scale armor battles" were in progress there with dive bombers supporting the Israeli tanks. He said Israeli bombers struck at surface-to-air missiles sites and an airfield in Egypt.

Israeli military sources claimed that Israel held the initiative on both the Egyptian and Syrian fronts. In the north, Israeli forces were still stopped around Sasa, 22 miles from the Syrian capital of Damascus. Israeli pilots said they downed two MIGs there.
During the night, Egyptian commandos raided the region around Sharm el Sheikh, which guards the entrance to the Tiran Straits on the tip of the Sinai peninsula. An Israeli spokesman said 38 of them were captured and "you can assume no damage was done." Israel occupied Sharm el Sheikh during the 1967 war.

A U.S. airlift continued to pour replacement equipment to Israel to match the Russian resupply of the Arab forces. UPI correspondent Joseph W. Grigg reported from Beirut that military analysts there believe that without the resupplying of both sides the war could hardly go on another 10 days.

The fourth Middle East war in 25 years went into its 12th day today with both sides paying lip service to the idea of a cease-fire. But diplomats in Beirut predicted the bitterest fighting still ahead.

In London, diplomats from East and West said the war was threatening to end detente between the United States and the Soviet Union with the two superpowers stepping up arms shipments to the opposing sides.

U.S. Air Force C5A Galaxies, the world's largest military transports were landing one after another in Tel Aviv today bringing American supplies to replace Israeli equipment lost in the war.

Officials in Washington said about 30 U.S. military jets have carried some 500 tons of replacement arms to Israel—one-tenth of the Soviet military hardware shipped to the Arabs since the start of the war.

Nixon, Arabs Confer

(Combined Wire Services)

WASHINGTON — President Nixon today met with four Arab foreign ministers and said that while they had "differences" with the United States he believes "a fair and just and peaceful settlement" can be reached in the Arab-Israeli war.

Standing in bright sunshine in the White House rose garden, Nixon said "the foreign ministers and I have had a very good talk." In a similar calm mood, Umar al-Sagqaf of Saudi Arabia speaking for the Arabs, said he and the other ministers "have been received well."

The Arab ministers, who requested the meeting with Nixon, were Abdelaziz Bouteflika of Algeria; Sabah al-Ahmad al-Jaber al-Sabah of Kuwait; Umar al-Sagqaf of Saudi Arabia, and Ahmed Taibi Benhima of Morocco.

Their appearance at the White House coincided with a major meeting of Arab oil producing countries in Kuwait to decide on strategy in the war.

Diplomatic sources said the envoys were seeking to express to Nixon the pressure they are under, as the more moderate states in the Arab world, to take stronger action in the war between Israel and Egypt-Syria.

The meeting followed announcement of U. S. policy of resupplying Israel with weaponry to maintain the arms balance in the Middle East.

Sources in Beirut said Tuesday that the envoy from Saudi Arabia will tell President Nixon that King Faisal disapproves of the American arms support for Israel. The sources also said the message contains a threat of reducing oil supplies to the United States, perhaps by as much as 10 per cent initially.

City's Black Community... Division and Frustration

Editor's Note: In the first installment of this two-part series black leaders talked about the economic redevelopment of the Rondout area, black improvement. Today's topics include politics, the police commission and the Rondout Recreation Center.

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

Everette Hodge's meeting with Mayor Francis R. Koenig on April 16, heretofore unpublished, offers stark evidence of the divisiveness in the black community and its frustrations in attempts to get something more than "lip service" from the "establishment."

"I think the black clergy has failed the community in almost every area, in housing, in education, in economics. They have not spoken out. I am not aware of their ever making a policy statement on anything," Hodge said during a meeting with this reporter, attended by Sam Wilson, president of the Rondout Advisory Board and Ronald Robinson, president of Project SCORE.

"I asked every black clergyman to meet with me on April 14 preparatory to meeting with Koenig on the 16th to discuss problems in the black community," Hodge the president of the NAACP said.

"They questioned my right to call such a meeting in the first place and then refused to attend the meeting with Koenig."

Hodge went alone and asked the mayor for two things: that officer Junius Harris, a black police officer, be assigned to the departments Youth Division. "The people know Junius," Hodge said. "They trust and respect him. He has a rapport with the kids. A white policeman can't go into the black community in hours when drugs are most prevalent." Hodge also said he asked Koenig to set up a series of public relations meetings between the police and blacks. There was no commitment on either request, he said, and there has been no word from Koenig since.

Special

"There is no question in my mind that Koenig is the most popular mayor I've seen in the 20 some years I've been in this town," Hodge said. "But he hasn't done a single thing for the black people." Robinson and Wilson did not entirely agree with that assessment, pointing, for one thing, to the construction of the Rondout Neighborhood Center on Broadway.

The biggest blunder he made was the black police commissioner," Hodge continued, warning to his subject "He simply does not appreciate the problem. This town is a potential powder keg. We need some type of input to reduce the tension.

"We've talked about this," Hodge said, "and Koenig gives me this stuff about there not being any Jews on the police commission or there not being any Italians. He just can't seem to understand that when it comes to discrimination, there's only two races, black and white."

Hodge also suggested that "better use" could be made of revenue sharing money than putting it in the police department, for what he described as "bigger guns."

And Robinson questioned the police department's competence in the field of narcotics. "I've sat at meetings where 15 year old kids tell me who's selling heroin and the cops can't tell me who's selling heroin. Something's wrong."

Wilson, while allowing that the city has made a substantial investment in the Rondout Neighborhood Center, feels that it is being wasted. "The kids asked for sewing machines, camera equipment, teaching equipment," Wilson said. "So what does the city give them? A juke box and a pool table. All they need now is a bar. These people do not or will not understand the needs of the community even when they are told."

Although the three leaders carefully avoided the use of names—"we don't want to talk about people who aren't here to defend themselves"—they heatedly contended that they had been "sold out" by some of their "leaders" and taken advantage of by others.

"The mayor rewards inactivity," Hodge asserted. "His people report back on what the community is doing, not what should be done. These people are artificial leaders put there to report back to the establishment."

Hodge offered a similar assessment of other politicians and the organizations that promote them. "I'm opposed to these election day dinners the churches are always putting on. All they do is showcase politicians and then they don't see them again for another two years. They're just playing into their hands. We're not inviting any politicians to our (the NAACP's) Founder's Day Dinner next month. Those guys have had a free ride long enough."

But the question remains of where the black community is going and no one at last week's meeting had any illusions that a few Freeman articles were going to solve the problem.

"We hope that these articles will make people aware of some of the problems, to get them thinking, get them talking, get them moving," Robinson said. "We know we've got to help ourselves, but we've got to get together before we can begin."

Mayor Koenig on Firehouse Sites, Old Records

KINGSTON at the Nov. 13 meeting of the fire board, Koenig said. Of a more immediate nature, Koenig also announced that former City Treasurer Orrie R. Riehl would begin work today on sorting and disposing of records stored for years at the old city hall at 408 Broadway. The city hall has been vacant for more than a year. Although the interior of the old city hall is in an advanced state of deterioration, Koenig said today that the records, stored in the uppermost floor of the building, "were in pretty good shape."

On another subject concerning the old city hall, Koenig said he doesn't know when an auction will be held on equipment left by the city in the building. "That's up to the years and that Riehl's job will entail separating records which include past payroll records, city clerk's records and other governmental department records."

The mayor further announced that through the cooperation of James Billups of the YMCA and four students from the Neighborhood Youth Corps Program would be assisting Riehl on the project. Koenig said he hoped some of the records that must be kept could be microfilmed in order to cut down on the bulk and quantity to be stored.

As to the firehouse situation, Koenig announced several months ago that the Fair Street Station, also known as Wilt-Station, was obsolete and would have to be replaced by a modern fire station to serve the uptown area. The building was constructed almost 120 years ago and has been used as a firehouse since 1857. It faces on a narrow, one-way street where traffic congestion is often a problem in getting fire apparatus in and out of the firehouse.

City Planner Robert E. Pritchard has drawn up site plans for a new four-bay fire station, one on Clinton Avenue Extension between Washington Avenue and Converse Street, the other on Hurley Avenue about 200 feet from its junction with Washington Avenue. "Each site is vacant of buildings and structures and offers unique characteristics for construction of a modern firehouse facility," Koenig said today.

In assessing those sites, Koenig said that he, the fire commissioners and fire officers would be considering such factors as lot areas and dimensions, local congestion and interference with fire operation accessibility to fire protection service area and high value districts, adaptability to convenience of truck drive-thru capability, compatibility with adjacent land use and design/function flexibility.

The fire commissioners, when they meet on Nov. 13 will also open bids on the purchase of three new 750-gallon pumpers for the city's volunteer fire forces. Plans call for those trucks to be located at Cordts Hose, Rapid Hose and Wicks Hose. Federal revenue sharing funds have been committed to pay for them.

Traffic Chairman Scores Release

KINGSTON ing for a $10,500 city program, when, according to Alexander, only $10,750 is being sought for the entire county.

Alexander said the county has been working on a five-year master plan for more than a year and that many of the proposals by the city in the areas of education, codification and bicycle and pedestrian safety had already been included in the county master plan before the city submitted its proposals last month.

Alexander also said that the county's five-year master plan which includes improvements for the city's traffic situation, has been filed with state and federal officials.

Majestic's Request Denied

ALBANY Majestic to his supervisory candidacy and denying the right to run for county legislator at the same time.

The case was argued in the Court of Appeals last week with County Attorney Abram Molyneux representing the Ulster County Board of Elections whose commissioners Edwin F. Callahan and Jack J. Hogan declared Majestic's petitions invalid because they were in violation of the law.

The Democrat Hogan and Republican Callahan both maintained that the county law provides that no elective county officer shall be eligible to hold, at the same time, any other elective county or town office. And, that a person shall not be nominated for a public office which he is ineligible to hold.

Justice Penneck in signing an order stated that the Committee on Vacancies of the Democratic Party, be authorized to designate Majestic for the office of supervisor of Gardiner and that Majestic not be designated for any other office.

Mr. Koenig's plan as announced is merely a repetition in most instances of the plan developed by the County (Traffic) Committee and could not be accepted in its entirety because of overlapping programs, Alexander said.

Alexander said that Koenig and former Traffic Officer Ernest Bartroff met with the County Traffic Committee in March to review provisions of the program as approved by the County Legislature last year. City Planner Robert Pritchard submitted the city's proposals were not in the form of a formal application. "It amounted to about two typewritten pages and was general in nature," Alexander said.

As to the amount available, Koenig indicated in his press release that the city was applying for a $10,500 city program, when, according to Alexander, only $10,750 is being sought for the entire county.

Ulster Realtors Launch Drive On Mortgage Money Crisis

JOAN B. ISGRO

KINGSTON | The Ulster County Board of Realtors has launched a campaign to mobilize the growing number of property owners, sellers and buyers and citizens concerned with today's mortgage money crisis, according to Joan B. Isgro, president.

This action by the board she said, is part of a nationwide program announced by the National Association of Realtors in Chicago. The program will involve some 500,000 men and women who will be collecting signatures on petitions to be presented to U.S. senators and representatives in Washington during the week of Nov. 11, focusing attention on the existing mortgage money situation. Petitions will also be available at local realtors' offices.

The visits to legislators will be a major feature of the Realtor's National Convention, which will be held in the capital Nov. 11-15. Members of the Ulster County Board of Realtors will participate in the presentation of petitions from citizens of Ulster County to Senators Jacob K. Javits and James L. Buckley and Representatives Hamilton Fish Jr., Howard W. Robison and Benjamin A. Gilman.

"People in our community face an unprecedented problem," she explained. "The tight mortgage money market means less money to lend, higher down payments required and higher interest rates charged. This crisis hurts everyone — the seller who can't get a fair price for his home, the construction tradesman who is out of work, the apartment dweller who can't buy a home, the transferee who must leave a family behind because he can't sell his present home or buy a new one, the persons who can't take advantage of new job opportunities in other cities and many others.

"Fortunately, the situation in Ulster County is not quite that bad. Realtors are still aiding people here in finding ways to buy and sell property but the situation is tight and likely to get tighter unless the people speak out and demand action by Congress," she said.

Ulster County Board of Realtors is circulating petitions among property owners and other voters urging Congress to take immediate action to implement a reasonable and rational mortgage money program.

Board Hears Artists' Request

WOODSTOCK | The Woodstock Town Board has taken under advisement a request from the Woodstock Artists Association to make revenue sharing funds available to help with renovation and expansion of the WAA art gallery.

WAA made a half hour slide presentation at Tuesday night's board meeting showing plans for its proposed new gallery, and reported that the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA) has approved their application for a $57,000 project to improve and renovate the gallery, subject to the availability of funds. WAA has asked NEA for $14,250 and said that over $23,000 in cash and $6,000 in three-year pledges had been raised locally, leaving a balance of less than $14,000 to be raised if the full NEA grant is given.

Supervisor Verner May said that nothing could be done this year but that the board viewed the proposition favorably and would give every consideration to making funds available next year.

The board learned that the Woodstock Commission for the Conservation of the Environment has been granted $1,150 by the Ford Foundation to finance preparation and publication of an open space inventory for use in land use planning and open space preservation.

The Foundation made $750 as an outright grant and the remaining $400 conditional on CCE providing a matching $400, which May said was already available.

The board passed a resolution establishing a five-member Historic Landmarks Committee to prepare a list of structures and other objects that should be preserved because of their historic value or architectural merits. The Committee will also plan a historic resources survey of the town and make recommendations to the town board by the December meetings.

Another resolution created the Woodstock Bicentennial Commission of five members to cooperate with groups who wish to participate in bicentennial programs and to prepare plans for appropriate celebrations in Woodstock.

The board accepted the $960 bid of Dick Benoit's Refuse Removal Service for pickups of trash from all public trash baskets and at town buildings. The one-year contract covers emptying baskets daily from May through September and as required for the rest of the year, and for weekly pickups at the town hall and annex, Andy Lee Recreation Field, and at Big Deep.

The board set a public hearing for 8 p.m. on Nov. 13 at the town hall to consider rezoning an area in Bearsville.

A group of residents of the area west of Route 212 and north of the Bearsville-Wittenberg Road petitioned for a change from R-1 to R-2 residential single family zoning, which would increase minimum lot sizes from 1/4 acre to two acres. The planning board approved the request, saying that although it had not investigated all the merits of the change, the majority of board members avored it since 94 per cent of the landowners involved had signed the petition.

The board also set a public hearing for 8 p.m. on Nov. 8 to consider the town budget for the coming year. Both hearings will be held in the town hall.

In other action, the board accepted as town roads Whitney Drive and Violette Place in Zena and Vicino Drive off the Willow-Mt. Tremper Road.

A second life in a privately-owned resort.

If it sounds extravagant, remember, so did a second car and two television sets.

Time was, you drove a sedan and wished it were a sports car. Now you own both. Time was, you watched television in black and white and wished it were color. Now you own both. Today you have your everyday life—and if you're like most folks, you wish for a second life—relaxed, carefree, away from it all. For this wish, tomorrow may be too late.

Paradise lost

New York used to be more like Maine—with clean lakes, mountain vistas, virgin forests filled with flora and fauna. Nobody realized how precious these things were. Not until they tried to live without them for awhile. Now, of course, things are changing, and most people are concerned. But concern isn't action. And this is a time for action. Is it too late? Not quite.

This land is your land

Here's where you come in. 125 miles north of the George Washington Bridge, in the pretty mid-Hudson Valley, we're building Sleepy Hollow Lake. Framed by the magic mountains of Rip van Winkle Country—it is the largest privately-owned recreational lake of its kind in New York. Do you like to fish? Or sail? Measuring two miles from end to end, Sleepy Hollow Lake is ready now—bordered by 16 miles of tree-studded coves and inlets, ideal for fishing, sailing and swimming. Do you prefer tennis? Or horseback riding? Its clubhouse facilities, ranging from a member's lodge to a complete equestrian center, will be first-rate. Everything you could want is nearby, including skiing at Hunter Mountain just 25 miles away.

All in all, Sleepy Hollow's resort facilities will be second to none, including a full-time recreation director to plan tennis matches and sailing lessons. It will be a millionaire's playground—but you don't have to be a millionaire to own a share of it. Oh, there may be one or two around, but you won't be able to tell them from the rest of the Sleepy Hollow Lake People.

What Sleepy Hollow Lake People look like

Sleepy Hollow Lake People could be anyone. They live in houses and apartments all over the state. They may belong to social or recreation clubs. But most of all, they're doers with an interest in outdoor sports and getting back to nature. They're looking for an escape from the everyday—to regain their composure and their tan. They want to spend more time with their families—and with other fun-loving outdoor people. They're tired of fighting crowds at the beach and traffic on the highways. They're looking for a way to get more fun and relaxation out of their lives and their leisure dollars.

Do they sound like you?

Sleepy Hollow Lake People will belong to 6 of the most exciting clubs in New York

Sleepy Hollow Lake, for one. A most exciting escape, for property owners and their guests only. A limited number of memberships. A limited number of people. And everything you could possibly want in the way of leisure time activities at your doorstep. A vacation—every weekend resort where the vacation never ends. The cost of these clubs and facilities is included in your annual Association Membership and Maintenance dues—currently $75 per year.

The Racquet Club, a swim and tennis retreat on the lake, with its own pool and illuminated courts, including platform tennis for winter warmups.

The Landings, a comfortable member's clubhouse complete with indoor pool and saunas. Surrounded on three sides by the lake, with glass walls to oversee lake fishing, swimming, sailing and water-skiing.

The Headless Horseman, a complete equestrian center, with stables, paddock and tack room. Rent a mount or stable your own.

The Loft, for the teenage membership, an action-oriented gathering spot for meeting, dancing and rapping—and special community affairs.

The Spinnaker, a special sailing club for experts and those who'd like to be.

The Haven, a secluded camping area set aside for full enjoyment of the great outdoors.

It's time to be second

We can't prove it, but the guy who was first on his block to own two cars and a second TV set, is probably the guy who will be first to own a second piece of property, with a second purpose—and probably more. A second piece of property gives you retirement opportunity, forced saving and vacation saving as well as fun. Then, it was extravagant. Now, it's foresight. Because with America's recreational facilities and parklands almost filled to capacity with fun-seekers and weekend escapists, resort communities like Sleepy Hollow will become more and more valuable to your family's peace and enjoyment. In any case, the price you now pay to enjoy a swim, a game of tennis, a horseback ride or a leisurely sail far transcends money. Consider time, and the hassle of fighting traffic to escape for a day of fun. Consider overcrowding at public accommodations, and waiting in line for start times. Consider expensive memberships in separate-interest clubs and not getting full value out of any.

All photos taken on the property.

Select your property and start your second life now and enjoy it

Sleepy Hollow Lake is your home away from home. You can enjoy all the fun simply by owning property—or you can take a look at one of the new home models designed for comfort as well as economy. A single, sensible finance plan is available to combine home and property payments.

An idea whose time is now: The Great Awakening

Sleepy Hollow Lake is "awakening"... creating fun for people right now, with much more to come. Discover what "the great awakening" can mean to your family—in terms of getting more out of life. Think about the endless opportunities for your family... to spend a vacation and have something to show for it... something valuable to enjoy again and again.

Take the first step and a short cut, today

You may want to drive up and see Sleepy Hollow Lake yourself—we've included directions. But, you may want to hear all the details during a brief 5-minute personal appointment by a licensed Sleepy Hollow Lake representative before you drive up. Just mail the coupon and we'll see you get all the facts—at absolutely no obligation to you. Get the jump on crowds. Mail or call today.

Quite a story. But I realize the limitations of the newspaper page. Give me complete details on Sleepy Hollow Lake and information on a personal appointment to see it for myself.

I understand there is no obligation.

Harold E. Finkle of Kingston, a member of the New York State Temporary Commission to Study the Catskills. Finkle, who recently completed a survey of the Catskills by helicopter, reviewed his findings and recommendations with two members of the Conservation Committee.

Helicopter Flights Aiding Catskill Study Commission

STAMFORD Problems of pollution, agriculture, forestry and development were studied in an intensive four-hour helicopter flight this week by the members of the Temporary State Commission to Study the Catskills.

The commissioners logged 280 air miles in their flight over Ulster, Greene, Schoharie, Delaware and Otsego Counties. The commissioners said it would have taken weeks to study similar land areas by boat or car.

According to Kirby Peake, chairman of the commission, some of the highlights of the flight included inspections of:

- Developments along the Hudson River at Athens and Catskill in Greene County, where sites are being considered for future electric or atomic generating plants;

- Air pollution problems of the cement industry at Cementon, also in Greene County;

- Scenic areas of the Kaaterskill and Plattekill Cloves;

- Otsego Lake pollution problems caused by heavy recreational use and camp sewage disposal;

- Interstate 88 highway construction near Oneonta.

On this particular trip, the commissioners were concerned primarily with the northern segment of the Catskill region. About a month ago, they embarked on a similar tour from New Paltz, and viewed the Shawangunk Mountain Range (including the resorts at Mohonk and Minnewaska, the resort areas in the Liberty area of Sullivan County, the Pepacton Reservoir in Delaware County, Slide Mountain in Ulster County, the Ashokan Reservoir and the Kingston area.

After the commission's latest study of the Catskill Region's problems, Peake said he felt the members now had a "better quality of life." The commission's final report is due March 31, 1975; an interim report will be issued in March, 1974.

The commission has been charged by the New York State Legislature with conducting a study of the area's more critical problems. The study area consists of 3.9 million acres, with a population of 373,000.

Reprieve for Penn Central

KINGSTON

Two Penn Central freight lines in Ulster County were given a reprieve Tuesday when the Federal Railroad Administration granted the bankrupt rail system a temporary exemption from new track safety requirements.

Penn Central's Catskill Mountain Branch, which runs from Kingston to Delaware County, and the Wallkill Valley line, which runs from Kingston to Montgomery in Orange County, were closed Monday when the new FRA regulations went into effect. But activity on both lines resumed Tuesday when the temporary exemption was granted.

In both cases, the lines do not meet federal safety standards, and Penn Central says it can't afford to make repairs. In all, 2,790 miles of "substandard" Penn Central track were closed Monday, then reopened temporarily Tuesday.

The Public Service Commission has already given Penn Central permission to abandon its Catskill Mountain branch line because of diminishing revenues, but local residents, in the form of a corporation, are continuing efforts to buy the line and resume operations.

The exemption was announced late Tuesday, the first day of the new federal track safety standards, and enabled freight service to be restored on secondary track idled by the railroad several hours earlier.

Except for three commuter lines in Philadelphia and a four-mile section of track used by passenger trains between Stoughton and Canton Junction in Massachusetts, Penn Central passenger service will be normal, the FRA said.

Penn Central officials said commuter service in the two affected locations would be continued but would be operated at slower than normal speeds.

FRA Administrator John Ingram, in granting the temporary safety exemption, set further hearings on the issue for next Tuesday.

On Monday, trustees of the railroad had said the line would be forced to halt service temporarily on secondary tracks that did not meet the new standards.

The Penn Central said, in a petition to the FRA last week, that more than one-third of its 20,000 miles of track was not safe for speeds of more than 15 miles an hour. The railroad said it had substandard sections of track in every one of the 17 states it serves — mostly on branch lines, secondary routes and in freight yards.

The railroad, which has said it will be liquidated unless it receives federal aid by Oct. 31, has estimated that it would cost $49 million to bring the lines up to government standards.

Joan Arends, a registered nurse from Dutchess Hospital and mother of seven, chaired the Sex Education Group of CPT, a new organization that has replaced the PTA at Mill Road Elementary School.

Books and pamphlets in use in the district, distributed by Mill Road Principal David Machell, were received at the first meeting this week, along with a set of slides for Kindergarten through third graders.

Films used in the elementary, junior high, and high schools will be viewed in coming sessions. Parents are urged to join this group by the CPT because it is felt that they should be informed on how to educate their children concerning sex, with supplemental material being given by the school. The next session will be Nov. 19, 7 p.m., at Mill Road.

The Learning Disabilities Study Group also met recently for the first time, and Barret discussed the meaning of disabilities, types of behavior associated with children, and presumed causes.

Next meeting will be Nov. 8, 8 p.m., at Mill Road when the group will concern itself with early recognition and diagnostic testing. Any member of the public is invited to attend.

Rondout Board of Education Seeking 'Dust Collector'

By MATT SPIRENG

KYSERIKE
The Rondout Valley Board of Education wants a "dust collector" for the high school industrial arts department, but is concerned about who will install it and how much the installation will cost.

Tuesday night the board heard Lee Comeau, business administrator, report that he had received a bid of $3,280 for the device, but that the price was for equipment only. The board budgeted $3,500 this year, and directed Comeau to get a bid that would include installation.

Comeau said that the Duranko firm had installed such devices in several schools in this area, and a suggestion was made that duct work could be done by industrial arts students. Julian Bartle, the board vice-president, objected to using student labor, saying it would void warranty agreements on the equipment.

James Vertucci, high school principal, explained that the device picks up dust from woodworking equipment and said it was needed now because for the first time the shop is used every period of the day and that it can no longer be aired during the school day by opening windows. Mrs. Kay Wagenfohr suggested that with the fuel shortage, it could be an expensive proposition to clear the air in the shop by opening windows.

John Basten, district clerk, said he had investigated burglar alarms for the school's bus garage and that an alarm system could be had for about $500 installed. He said he had also investigated the possibility of installing floodlights on the building. The board directed him to look for additional bids before taking action.

Basten reported that the district's tax exemption policy for senior citizens had resulted in 275 exemptions for property valued at $217,200 in 1971-72, another 201 exemptions for $235,200 in 1972-73, and 207 exemptions for $239,310 during the current school year. The district's limitation on senior citizen income for tax exemption is $5,000.

The board voted unanimously and without comment to name the Rondout Valley School Administrators Association as exclusive bargaining agent for the district's school principals.

The board voted to reject BOCES bids for food for school cafeterias because of numerous wide fluctuations in prices. The administration was directed to make purchases on a day-to-day basis and board members said they would investigate the possibility of resuming participation in the BOCES cooperative bidding program at a later date.

The board accepted a bid by Royal Tire Co. of Kingston to furnish a small number of steel-belted radial tires for district vehicles. Basten said that although prices were higher than those for standard tires under state contract, he was investigating to see if longer mileage on the steel-belted tires might make them a better buy after all.

Consultation Set In Tenure Case

NEW PALTZ
Roberta Ottaviani, the speech professor at the State University College at New Paltz who has been denied tenure in what she maintains is a case of sex discrimination, has received word from the head of the college that he will be consulting with the persons involved in the tenure decision before making a final decision.

Ms. Ottaviani, in a letter dated Oct. 12 that she received Tuesday, was told by New Paltz President Dr. Stanley K. Coffman Jr. that, "Since recommendations and consultation with a number of persons in groups specified by our bylaws were involved, I can only respond after reviewing your request with them."

What Coffman will be responding to is what his letter noted as "additional evidence" presented to him by Ms. Ottaviani last week in an effort to get her tenure denial overturned.

Saying the Coffman's decision was "possibly a step forward," Mrs. Ottaviani noted that Coffman "could have just said no."

Ms. Ottaviani had taught for six years at New Paltz when she was informed last June that she had been denied tenure. The reason cited for the tenure denial was her lack of a doctorate, but she has said that others, mostly men, have received tenure without doctorates at New Paltz.

She has been a prominent activist in the feminist movement both at New Paltz and State University-wide levels.

Preliminary Study Slated

RHINEBECK
The Rhinebeck Board of Education will look into the possible commencement of an innovative secondary program for brighter students, it was announced this week.

An appropriation of $500 for a preliminary study in the area was approved by the board Monday, and a representative of the National Alternative Schools Program from the University of Massachusetts will confer with school officials Oct. 23.

According to District Principal James Sailer, certain brighter students are "dying on the vine" due to boredom with traditional academic methods, and the board feels that possible alternatives should be considered.

The district is expected to use student and faculty input in its quest for the best course of action, and may take the direction of an independent studies program without rigid class schedules.

The board also noted that the district is making an effort to conserve heating fuels through keeping building temperatures at 68 degrees, a reduction. And because of the rise in milk prices, the school cafeteria will now charge 10 cents per half pint.

Members of the Rhinebeck Teachers Association evidently do not anticipate a return of bitter contract negotiations with the district this year, as they decreed that their $5,700 strike fund has been donated to the district for the rental of new educational equipment.

Sailer, in making the announcement, stated that both parties are approaching contract negotiations "very positively."

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 17, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON WASHINGTON — While deposed Vice President Spiro Agnew was being sentenced for income tax evasion, the Internal Revenue Service has been quietly auditing the returns of his predecessor, Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn.

Inside sources say the IRS is curious about what happened to $50,000 in cash, which a Howard Hughes emissary has sworn he delivered to Humphrey in 1968. Humphrey was then Vice President and the Democratic presidential nominee.

Robert Maheu, who then ran Hughes' Nevada hotel-casino empire, has testified that he handed over the cash to Humphrey in the vice presidential limousine outside

Los Angeles' Century Plaza Hotel.

We spoke to Humphrey about the alleged transaction two years ago. He told us he had heard about a $50,000 campaign contribution from

Maheu but had no record that the money was ever received.

'ROUTINE AUDIT'
This is still Humphrey's recollection, a spokesman told us. Humphrey has no memory whatsoever of accepting $50,000 from Maheu, said the spokesman. The tax probe, he added, was a "routine audit" of Humphrey's 1970, 1971, and 1972 returns. "The 1968 returns aren't even involved," he said. "Everything is in order."

Internal Revenue raised its eyebrows over Maheu's sworn testimony, say our sources, because of evidence Humphrey did favors for Hughes.

If $50,000 was paid for Humphrey's services, then the money should have been reported as income. It was Agnew's failure to pay taxes on a bribe that got him into trouble with the IRS.

During our investigation into the disappearance of the eccentric Hughes from Nevada in 1971, we got hold of some of his secret, hand-scrawled memos. Among them were instructions to Maheu to get Humphrey to stop nuclear testing in Nevada, because it was scaring away casino customers.

"Bob," Hughes directed Maheu, "there is one man who can accomplish our objectives through Johnson (the late President Lyndon Johnson) — and that man is H.H.H. Why don't we get word to him on a basis of secrecy that is REALLY, REALLY RELIABLE that we will give him immediately FULL, UNLIMITED support for his campaign to enter the White House if he will just take this one on for us?"

MISSPELLS NAME
Hughes later wrote as if Humphrey's help had been secured. For example, the billionaire sought "an order from 'LBJ' inspired by Humphries" (sic) to halt all Nevada testing or, at least, to gain a 90-day delay to allow more time to prepare a case against the tests.

"I concur completely," Hughes wrote Maheu on April 16, 1968, "with telling the V.P. that he is free to tell the people in Washington if they don't grant the 90-day delay,
I am going to go public immediately."

What he meant by this was that he would release scientific opinions that the tests may have triggered an earthquake. There were also other references in the Hughes papers to using Humphrey, whose last name the billionaire always misspelled, in the campaign against nuclear testing.

Humphrey acknowledged to us that he had opposed the Nevada tests but insisted he had taken this position before the approach from the Hughes people.

NIXON KNEW: Sources
close to ex-vice President Spiro Agnew have told us flatly that President Nixon was aware of Agnew's difficulties before the inauguration last January.
Agnew notified the President, we are told, that he was being investigated for activities while Baltimore County executive and Maryland governor.

Not until April, however, did either Agnew or Nixon realize how serious the charges against the Vice President had become. Then, one of Agnew's bagmen told the Vice President he would become a government witness unless Agnew could stop the widening probe by U.S.
Attorney George Beall in Baltimore.

Agnew went to the White House again with his problem.
Among the recommendations given him was that he hire as his attorney Judah Best, a genial but tough lawyer in the firm that White House special counsel Charles Colson was about to join.

The time sequence, which we have carefully confirmed, sheds doubt on the White House claim that Nixon wasn't told of Agnew's problems until shortly before the news reports began to appear in early August.

"If this had come up earlier, John Mitchell probably would have told Beall to forget it," said one source. "But by April, the Watergate was coming apart."

Thus President Nixon, by recommending Judah Best to be Agnew's attorney and appointing Elliot Richardson to head the Justice Department, was in the strange position of affecting both Agnew's defense and his prosecution.

Inside Report

Why Ford Was Picked

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Only the selection of Rep. Gerald Ford as Vice President, and unexpecting but supremely sensible choice, could have saved President Nixon from the menacing backwash of rebellion building in his own party last week.

In particular, Republican House members were working up a nasty temper last Friday waiting out Mr. Nixon's contrived suspense over a new Vice President. Months of growing resentment toward the President were reaching a climax. Republican Congressmen grumbled that the elaborate selection ceremony planned by Mr.
Nixon for the White House East Room ill suited the mood of melancholy caused by Spiro T. Agnew's disgrace. Worst of all, they believed the President had his own mind made up and was sure to ignore their overwhelming recommendation of minority leader Ford.

The choice of Ford, then, was a pleasant, air-cleaning surprise to the Congressmen and other key Republicans.
By inhibiting his normal impulse for the exotic shock, Mr. Nixon for once satisfied the party faithful. Both on Capitol Hill and in the states, Republican leaders saw Ford as the Vice President who would least hurt the battered party.

The Republican mood prevailing through the rumor-filled hours Friday was typified by the ruggedly independent Rep. Barber Con-able of New York, a member of the House GOP leadership.
Like most colleagues, Conable privately viewed the ostentation selection ceremony that night as shockingly poor taste in a time of national calamity.

So, instead of accepting an invitation to the East Room, Conable planned to honor a speaking engagement in his upstate Congressional District and duly informed his floor leader, Gerry Ford. But Ford somerly asked him to attend as a personal favor, and Conable — taking heart from that request — agreed to go.

Conable was not the only Republican who either stayed away from the East Room or was bludgeoned into attending. Sen. Barry Goldwater, fearing Mr. Nixon's non-concern for Republican fortunes would produce a party-splitting choice, left Friday morning for a country weekend on Maryland's Eastern Shore. He returned only after much pleading by the White House, still apprehensive that Mr. Nixon would rupture the party by selecting John B. Connally.

Goldwater had good reason for apprehension. Among the 1976 presidential possibilities (Connally, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Gov. Ronald Reagan), Mr. Nixon long ago picked Connally as his favorite. Just Thursday afternoon, Connally was still in the picture.

But even before Agnew's resignation, it was clear that Democratic opposition and Republican misgivings regarding Connally had risen sharply. Once Agnew actually resigned, anti-Connally talk reached a fever pitch.

Presidential counselors
Melvin R. Laird and Bryce Harlow, battle-seasoned veterans of Capitol Hill, reported to the President Thursday that Connally might well be rejected by the Senate and would not fare much better in the House. They also reported growing congressional sentiment for Ford. Beyond Capitol Hill, conservative state chairmen inclined toward Reagan sent word they would deeply resent Connally but accept Ford as no threat to Reagan.

Political allies advised Connally he should now avoid a bloody confirmation fight.
Over the telephone Thursday night, the President and Connally agreed with this.
Before he went to bed at Camp David that night, Mr. Nixon finally decided on Ford.

But Mr. Nixon's carefully staged suspense Friday generated unnecessary confusion and dismay. While he was having his only fun since Watergate broke, Mr. Nixon's zealously guarded secret nearly undid the rest of the party. Ford left his meeting with the President Friday morning without being selected, openly crestfallen.

The gloom quickly permeated the Republican cloakroom and set off rumors of more exotic choices.

A strong but inaccurate Rockefeller rumor at midday caused threats by militantly conservative young Congressmen — such as Reps.
Trent Lott of Mississippi and Robert Bauman of Maryland — to vote against him. Far wilder possibilities then surfaced, such as the politically preposterous selection of Chief Justice Warren Burger. "When I heard that," one Nixon aide confides, "I saw the last three years going down the drain."
So closely was the secret held that Ford himself was not given the good news until 7 p.m.

After so many false alarms, the revelation of Gerry Ford triggered spontaneous cheers in the East Room. For once, Mr. Nixon had followed party advice and avoided a confrontation with Congress.
Whether Ford is a "caretaker" Vice President or instead becomes a 1976 presidential contender, neither the Reagan nor the Rockefeller camps feel threatened today. Connally has not been savaged by a congressional confirmation fight which, win or lose, would have scarred him as a presidential candidate. And for the first time in many long months, Republicans had some genuinely nice things to say about their President.

Old Tales Are the Best Tales

Stories are like buried cities. They are excavated by authors with loving care to be sold as new. The abominations of man have been explored so diligently that there are no original plots — only variations of old ones.

The oldest I recall is the one about the poor Russian couple who hungered to send their only son to America. He left their freezing shack at 14.
In the new world, he prospered.
But he forgot gratitude and never wrote to his parents.

He was rich and his temples were gray when his conscience awakened. He went to Russia, knocked on the family door and, hiding his identity, asked for a bed. His parents gave it to him. They didn't recognize him. As he slept, they murdered him for his money and clothes.

Then there was the English gentleman who dozed in his study. He awakened to find on his desk "The London Times" for the next year.

Feverishly, he started reading the newspaper a year ahead.
He knew which stocks and bonds would go up, which would decline.

As he read backward toward today, he knew of wars yet to come, peace treaties, natural catastrophes.
His knowledge could make him the richest man in the world. He was fatigued when he got to tomorrow's paper, but he read it anyway. In the obituary notices, he read that he had been found dead in his study.

There is the one about the famous doctor who was an alcoholic. By accident, he killed a patient. He left his practice, his mansion, his family, and disappeared. In a ghetto, he ministered to the sick. The poor thought of him as a saint. They put him in a room over a garage. Near the sidewalk, they had a sign:
"Dr. Brown — Upstairs."

He paid for his crime for many years. When he died, the poor followed him to the grave. "Why are we so poor

we can't do something for him?" and old man shouted.
A young man ran back to the neighborhood. When he returned, he stuck an old wooden cross on the grave.
"Dr. Brown" it said "Upstairs."

Few love stories are more touching than O'Henry's young couple at Christmastime. They adored each other but they were penniless. He had a gold watch, a gift from his father. She had long silk hair to her waist. Each resolved to buy the other a gift.

She sold her long tresses and bought him a gold watch chain. He hocked his watch to buy her a Spanish comb.
Other plots are flat. Like the husband, in a rage, who killed his wife. He placed her head in a gas oven and went off on a trip.

When he returned, he saw her and sobbed. The police had no sympathy. They arrested him for murder. The gas had been shut off for non-payment of bills before he left home.

Or the wife whose husband disappears. The neighbors knew they fought incessantly.
Someone finds a fresh mound of earth in the backyard.
Bones are uncovered. The woman is arrested, tried and convicted for murder.

A year later the husband shows up. He grins and says he sailed for Australia. The wife sues police, county, state and trial witnesses. Husband and wife split the proceeds, as they had planned from the beginning.

Irvin Cobb devised a plot
he liked so well he used it twice. Two crooks steal a fortune. They get away without being detected. In another state, they celebrate with dinner. After dessert, a waiter finds both men dead.
Each had poisoned the other.

The poorest plot is the wild, fanciful, incredible story that ends with the hero waking up murmuring: "It was all a dream." In addition, there are thousands of sob stories. The handsome boy falls in love with the beautiful girl. They plan to marry. Before the event, he is called away to examine the family mines.

He's gone a long time. The girl is in an auto accident.
Her head goes through the windshield. Surgeons patch the features. Her face is revolving. Later, the boy returns. She is afraid to meet him. He holds her in his arms and weeps. He loves her but can't see her, he was blinded in a mine accident.

Two male patients in a hospital room with one window. The heart patient looks out the window every morning, and relates to the other patient all he sees, the park, the trees. The nursemaid wheeling a baby carriage, the handsome young cop who admires the nursemaid.

One night the man at the window cries feebly for his heart pills. The man in the other bed permits him to die.
In the morning, he insists he has a right to the empty bed. He looks out the window and sees a black brick wall.

Believe those and I'll tell you some more...

Fighting Fires

Editor, The Freeman:

Recently there had been a fire on my street. My street is situated two or three blocks between two volunteer fire companies — Cordis House and Union Hose — and yet neither of these companies, one manned with four men at the time, were allowed to respond. I feel that if this or any fire were a large fire, life or an extensive amount of property could be lost in the time it would take a truck from the central station to reach the fire.

I have an 80 year old mother who is unable to get around very well. In the case of fire, she would probably not be able to get herself out of the house in time. To wait for the paid firemen to reach her might be too late, especially as the volunteers are only a couple of blocks from her home. By stopping or limiting the participation of volunteer firemen, we are putting the lives of our senior citizens, our sickly and our children on the line.

Politics have no bearing on this issue. I am only sincerely expressing my feelings as a citizen of this city. Should innocent citizens be made to pay the price because of the dispute between the paid and volunteer firemen's association?

Respectfully yours,

Government Integrity

Editor, The Freeman:

Your front page story about the reaction of area residents to Agnew's resignation has forced me to speak up. Agnew's name caps a list already far too long and yet we profess shock, confusion, depression, disbelief. How can this be? A year ago when Senator McGovern referred to this administration as the most corrupt in American political history he was laughed at and scorned. His incisive observation seems prophetic now, but it took no prophet, even then. All one needed was two open eyes on Nixon and his appointed friends. Watergate and the Agnew affair leave us gasping, but a little historical sense would rectify that. However, we react as if for the first time our pious and unmarked high government has just suffered tarnishment, or we shrug it off as the usual in politics. Neither attitude is correct, and if either both prevail then we are in for further and greater trouble. We say, how can this happen? I don't want to hear any more about it! When news of the Nazi murder of decent citizens in "work camps" first reached the Jewish ghettos, they too could not believe and did not want to hear. When the same news reached our shores we too did not want to believe nor hear. There are now a lot of nameless dead believers. In the end, we shrink from facing ourselves. These things can happen because human beings are human beings, even our leaders. Even in a democracy the danger cannot be eradicated. Election by the majority does not insure that the best man won, it only enhances that possibility. And in a democracy the ultimate responsibility for government must fall upon the people, or the democracy ceases to exist but in name. We are responsible, we are the ones who allowed this to come to pass. We are the ones who must ultimately rectify. But of course, before we confront ourselves we will seek rationalization and scapegoats. It's an act of vengeful destruction by the Democrats! By the Leftist-Liberals! But the liberal-radical press! The last has to be the funniest of all. Nixon had more than 80 per cent of the nation's papers supporting him last year (this same man now neck deep in intrigue and corruption) and yet began a calculated attack on the press in 1969 through, of all people, Agnew (history teaches us nothing if it does not school us in a sense of irony) — but he was not satisfied that other voices should subsist in a democracy. Thomas Jefferson and Tom Paine might be glad they died 200 years ago. Blaming the problems of this administration on the press is like blaming the Russian press for the defeat of Napoleon, or blaming a rabbit for the noise and destruction that upsets a woods and just happens to be caused by a wild boar! And now the press is patting itself on the back for the courageous work of a few reporters among thousands, a few papers among thousands. Yes, the press is subject to criticism, but not for its work but rather for its lack of work. It has failed the people, and now the people have failed themselves. I can think of no better example than the very editorial policy of this paper.

But we continue to avoid the issue and facts, don't we? We even begin to see Msrs. Agnew and Nixon as players in a tragedy. The tragedy is ours, for we have been the blind and naive and proud. Can we continue with the blinders now? In a democracy, the government reflects the people. In such times as these the people must take themselves into account. For Mr. Agnew, as a fellow human being, we should feel sorrow and compassion. For Mr. Agnew as Vice-President of the United States we can only thank him for saving us the trouble. It is really too bad that

BOCES Expansion

Editor, The Freeman:

Since when is it irresponsible or ignorant or a misrepresentation when a taxpayer expresses his concern about matters dealing with the preempting of his tax dollars? In his response of Oct. 11 (Ellenville Journal) to our letter of Oct. 4, Ben Miller, in order to create a climate of doubt about our ability to comprehend, and our right to scrutinize a matter for which we will be taxed, has proceeded to use the method of discrediting our thinking as irresponsible or ignorant. And further, he did not address himself to the matter we discussed, preferring instead to obfuscate the matter with entirely unrelated distracting rhetoric.

We have as our sources of information the two newspaper reports which appeared July 2 and Oct. 4, 1973, which must have been released for public consumption, and therefore obviously qualified for what the public may be told. Because of the extra increased taxes it would have caused the taxpayers of Ulster County voted down a bond issue two years ago, which would have enabled BOCES to build an occupational education center. Now, with a taxpayer-borne attitude, BOCES has embarked on a new strategy which ensures them of a newly built center at taxpayers expense, and without having to seek their approval. This is being accomplished by having a builder construct a center to their specifications, then requesting Assemblyman H. Clark Bell to introduce and support legislation which will permit them to enter into a long term lease of the facility. Mr. Miller's statement in his letter, that "with our own facilities all rents and taxes cease for all the years ahead" exposes the contention we hold, i.e. that BOCES does not intend to go on renting, but will in the final analysis, be buying it.

Taxes for the center may cease, but not for the taxpayer. It will be no different from every other facility which has been created for public education purposes, whose needs, somehow grow and grow and grow, and with their growth of needs, so do the peoples' taxes increase commensurately. And there are always the hidden costs which eventually reveal themselves in the form of increased taxes.

There are already too many overlapping educational systems, and its time for an evaluation and weeding out before any more new facilities are forced on the taxpayers, unnecessarily adding to their burden in these times of unreasonably over taxed oppression.

Beware Elitists

Editor, The Freeman:

When I read your paper last Friday night (10-5-73), I could not help but be disgusted and saddened, in that order, by the article entitled "Planned Parenthood Clinic in Kingston." The caption under the accompanying picture read "Serving The Community." What a sham! Since there are very, very few, if any, articles addressing the same subjects with an opposing viewpoint, I find the necessity for writing this lengthy letter.

To quote from the third paragraph, "However, although it is true that our national birth rate is declining, it is also a fact the number of deaths is also declining, and at a more rapid rate." Instead of the next sentence following, "The end result is a steady population growth," in my opinion it should have read the following: However, we need not fear overpopulation because we have taken the first step and have prevented thousands of lives from joining our community, not by contraception before the lives were in existence, but rather by snuffing out those lives through the act of Abortion. Further, keep heart, dear people, because the second step is taking care of the declining death rate through Euthanasia, Death With Dignity, etc. programs which are already beginning to take hold and shall certainly make great strides in diminishing our community and undoubtedly will go on to areas which include extermination of those "poor, pitiful creatures" of our community who don't 'measure up' to our elitist standards. Rather strong for language you think? It is all too true, if only the truth could be known by our community, realizes that the act of sexual intercourse is not just fun and games or for self gratification, but rather a deep commitment to the responsibility of this act, they will think twice before placing themselves in the position of having to accept this responsibility. Give them a chance to show us that they have much more love and compassion for mankind than we have given them credit for. Teens ARE responsible when they are informed and if they are not pressured by a society which advocates irresponsible acts such as Abortion and Euthanasia.

I would like to know what Planned Parenthood is doing to meet the needs of those of us in our community who know what is behind all this DOUBLE TALK. What it is doing to meet the needs of those of us who object to our tax dollars being used to subsidize their organization which advocates and takes part in Abortion and voluntary sterilization?

How many of the unfortunate individuals who have 'benefited' from their services have done so voluntarily? Out of choice and not coercion or pressure from a pragmatic ideology?

How many of those women are now in psychiatric hospitals or under private psychiatric care after 'benefiting' from this community service?

Supporting Israel

Editor, The Freeman:

Many Americans have been asking me why President Nixon and the Congress are supporting the State of Israel to the extent of selling airplanes, tanks and munitions for the defense of that nation. Both Republicans and Democrats in the Senate almost unanimously support such a program.

The American People have a right to know why the United States is in favor of preserving the freedom and independence of Israel as a Democratic nation in the Near East that is friendly disposed to the United States. Everyone knows that the Communists in Moscow have for years been arming Egypt, Syria and Iraq with vast numbers of tanks, airplanes and military equipment of all kinds. If we had failed to supply tanks and airplanes to Israel it would not be able to defend its own existence as a free, independent Democratic nation.

If Israel should fail it would become a Communist satellite nation and would immediately endanger the very existence of the conservative Arab nations such as Saudi Arabia, Iran, Jordan, United Arab Emirates, Yemen, possibly Kuwait and others. The conquest of Israel would automatically mean that the eastern Mediterranean and the Suez Canal would become a Communist sphere of influence which would be a serious setback to the NATO forces including Greece. Furthermore, if Israel should fall, the entire oil production of Arabia would come under the control of the Communists, much of which is now owned by American interests. This would be a serious setback to our own economy and could be used to influence the political policies of some of the NATO nations.

But even worse, the domination of Israel by Communist control from Moscow and of Saudi Arabia and Yemen would immediately open a direct road for Communist military infiltration into Africa which could have an even more disastrous and serious effect on the peace of the world.

The United States Government and the Congress are firmly convinced that military support of Israel to assure its existence as a free and independent nation is necessary not only in the interest of the United States and the American people but for the preservation of peace throughout the world. Our government and our people have no ill will towards the Arab nations and want a peaceful settlement in the Near East situation. It is probably that as of now that Israel is strong enough militarily to defend its own security against both Syria and Egypt. It is absolutely essential to both Soviet Russia and the United States to keep out of any war in the Near East as that might start the beginning of worldwide nuclear war and the destruction of civilization itself.

At the request of prominent leaders of Israel, I suggested as one who served twenty-five years on the Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Representatives, the creation of an autonomous Palestine Arab Republic to include at least a million or more Arabs to be guaranteed by Israel, Jordan, Saudi Arabia, Syria and Egypt and by the United Nations.

This autonomous republic should have full sovereign powers but strictly limited to only police weapons. This would go a long way to solve the sad plight of the homeless Arab refugees. It should have financial support not only from all Arab nations, but from Israel to provide factories, roads and employment until it is a self-supporting nation. This alone would eradicate the cancer of hatred that exists in Arab nations and will continue to exist as long as the homeless Arabs are left destitute or live in poverty stricken encampments. Both Israel and the Arab nations as soon as this war is terminated, should make concessions which will restore peace, understanding and friendship between Israel and all Arab nations.

Will Review IBM Decision

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Insufficient evidence was presented to justify recalculating antitrust damages assigned to IBM, and any assignment of damages, a federal judge said Tuesday.

Police Say 5 Involved

TOWN OF ULSTER police have no new leads in the State Police said today that five persons—not three or four as previously thought—were involved in a $10,000 armed robbery of the Bonanza Branch of the Heritage Savings Bank Monday morning.

Four males and one female, all black, were involved in the robbery, according to Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman.

However, other than a change in the number of persons believed involved in the holdup, tempt to develop leads.

U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen of Salt Lake City said he would certify his previous judgment, that IBM was guilty of antitrust violations and Telex was guilty of industrial espionage, for review by the higher court. But, he said he would leave the question of damages open, pending a later determination on his part.

"I have concluded that the evidence before me is insufficient to justify the recalculation or redetermination of the amount of antitrust damages by specific or approximated sums, and accordingly I intend to grant an amendment to the finding of fact, conclusions of law and judgment leaving the amount to be determined at a special hearing or to grant a motion for a new trial on the subject of damages only," he said.

Christensen awarded Telex $352.5 million in treble damages Sept. 17 in Tulsa and awarded IBM $21.9 million in its industrial espionage counterclaim.

However, Christensen notified both parties Oct. 9 that he had made a "substantial error" in making his calculations of the judgment against IBM, later explaining that he had failed to deduct from the IBM judgment certain amounts he felt might be used to offset the Telex claim.

Attorneys for both sides had said it appeared Christensen would send the original judgment to the appeals court and served for four years as would decide later on how to proceed with determining the

Christensen said he hoped the main point of the appeals court would be to "make a determination on the relationship between trade secrets, misappropriations and antitrust actions."

Thomas Barr, IBM's attorney, argued that all of Telex's damage claims were based on business activity using stolen IBM computer accessory information.

Among issues remaining for Christensen to decide are a motion to prevent Telex from distributing alleged IBM trade secrets and a motion to set a trial on the issue of foreign competition between the two.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go to the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right—20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important) while reducing. You keep "full"—no starvation—because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $3.00 ($3.25 for Rush Service)—Cash is O.K.—to: Jorma Products Co., P.O. Box 728, Solana Beach, California 92075. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

So many people came to Hidden Valley Guest Ranch for our fresh, lively salad dressing, we got out of the ranch business and got into the salad dressing business.

Discovered in Alaska.

It all got started by a contractor whose jobs took him so many miles away from civilization, he had to feed his men by himself.

Well, he used to like experimenting with recipes, so one day he decided to fool around with a new salad dressing. After a lot of trial and error, he tasted his dressing and eureka, it was like finding a mother lode of gold. He tried it on his men, and it was eureka, all over again.

By the time the news of his flavor discovery got around, his recipe was safely packed away and he was heading home for California.

California ate it up.
In Santa Barbara, he started the Hidden Valley Guest Ranch, making his salad dressing the mainstay of the menu. Soon, it became the mainstay of the ranch.

The dressing became so popular, the ranch was eventually shelved and the dressing packaged. The fresh, lively taste arrives on your table.

Now, you can discover the ranch fresh goodness packed into every package of Hidden Valley Ranch salad dressing mix.

You just take the fixin's, mix them up fresh with mayonnaise and buttermilk, and you get a creamy, rich, texture that delivers a deliciously different wild west taste. It's the freshest, liveliest flavor you ever had.

Try Hidden Valley Ranch salad dressing. Your mouth will be the richer for it. And so will your pocketbook, when you take advantage of our coupon.

Hidden Valley Ranch Salad Dressing.
You never tasted the likes of it before.

Gambling Profits Used for Hospitals

TEL AVIV (AP) — Every year, thousands of Israelis are treated in hospitals built with gambling profits.

And about 600,000 students, or almost three out of four Israeli youngsters, attend schools built with easy loans from a gambling organization.

In a country where private betting is illegal, gambling is big business for the government, says Moshe Talmon, the manager of Israel's state-run lottery, Mifal Hapayis.

While some U.S. states debate whether to allow government-controlled gaming, Israel has discovered that playing the age-old numbers racket is too profitable to pass up.

"We average nearly $400,000 each week in profits, which go to building hospitals and schools," said Talmon, who estimated that 600,000 Israelis, or nearly a fifth of the population, buy lottery tickets each week. They are sold at brightly colored booths dotting street corners throughout the country.

A few buyers — as many as 200 a year — get almost wealthy overnight. Two top prizes of $36,000 are awarded weekly. That's enough to start a small business or to buy a small apartment in Tel Aviv's inflated market, which Talmon says is what most big winners do with their winnings.

The idea of the lottery came up in 1949, a year after Israel won its independence. The country was absorbing thousands of refugees from Hitler's death camps and impoverished Jews from the Arab world.

When Israel Rokach, then Tel Aviv's mayor, proposed a municipal lottery to raise money for medical facilities for the new immigrants, the finance-starved government turned the idea into a national institution. Mifal Hapayis began operations in 1951.

Since then, Mifal Hapayis money has built more than one-third of the country's 159 hospitals.

Talmon says the lottery system has succeeded because "we are able to sell our tickets at a reasonable price." Each ticket costs 95 cents and about one out of three tickets wins a prize at least equaling the initial investment.

Talmon says 60 per cent of the $400,000 weekly intake is returned in prize money and 30 per cent is used in public building. The other 10 per cent is spent in running costs.

He says the government-regulated lottery has contributed to keeping organized crime out of Israel.

Ex-West Pointer Describes 'Hazing'

FAIRFAX, Va. (UPI) — An 18-year-old cadet who described the hazing that forced him out of the U.S. Military Academy and into a hospital bed as "sadistic" says he does not believe he was purposely victimized by other cadets.

Mark Brown of Fairfax, Va., left West Point on Sept. 14, suffering from acute dehydration. It had been 75 days since he was sworn in as a plebe, or freshman student. Brown said upperclassmen would not allow him to sleep some nights and would not let him eat any more "food than could be held in the palm of the hand" for three straight days.

"Out of the 75 days which I spent at the academy, no less than 58, or over 77 per cent, included excessive or unreasonable hazing," said Brown.

Despite the treatment, Brown refuses to believe other cadets were out to get him personally. "I don't believe I was singled out in any way," he said.

Brown said he felt the hazing which he endured was the result of "a few egocentrics who place their own sadistic pleasures ahead of the Academy's high principles."

The dehydration, Brown said, resulted in a serious loss of water from around the brain, which drove him into convulsions at times and caused a loss of speech for several days at a time.

The army said it launched an investigation of Brown's allegations, and had named Col. John B. Tower, deputy chief of operations and security at the Academy, to oversee the inquiry.

Brown has written Tower explaining that he has "the highest regard" for the Academy's officer corps. He said it was "a shame they have the problem at West Point... I have no bitter feelings toward the military. I am not a peace radical."

Because of his experience at West Point, Brown said, he has no desire to attend any other military academy. He said his future plans are indefinite, but he does plan to return to school.

Brown was released from a hospital in September. He is presently living at his parents' home in the Washington suburbs.

Nixon and Supreme Court...Confrontation on Tapes Looms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five years ago when Richard M. Nixon was elected President, one of his principal goals was to reshape the Supreme Court to bring it into line with his own interpretations of the Constitution.

He'll soon learn how successful he's been in appointing justices who agree with his views of separation of powers and executive privilege.

For the Supreme Court now represents Nixon's last hope for judicial support for his argument that under the Constitution, only he has the authority to say whether the tapes of his conversations about the Watergate scandal can be turned over to a federal grand jury.

The President's lawyers have failed to convince U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica or the U.S. Court of Appeals that his argument is valid.

Ironically, the opposition to the President's position in the tapes case, often has seemed to borrow arguments Nixon used in criticizing Supreme Court decisions during the 15 years Earl Warren was chief justice.

As President, Nixon has had the opportunity to name four men to the Supreme Court. Each time he said he had sought a man he regarded as a "strict constructionist," one who would not read into the Constitution powers beyond those expressly included by the original framers.

But the appeals court said the President's lawyers were trying to "refashion the Constitution" with their claim that he was immune from court orders.

"The Constitution makes no mention of special presidential immunities," the five-judge majority said in its opinion. "Indeed, the executive branch generally is afforded none. This silence cannot be ascribed the oversight."

Both the courts and special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox also seem to have stolen another of the President's favorite themes, law and order.

Cox has hit hard in his arguments on the theme that the tapes are evidence in a grand jury investigation of possible criminal activity. Again and again, the special prosecutor has said "the grand jury has a right to every man's evidence," end, "the highest executive officials, like all citizens, are subject to the rule of law."

The appeals court referred to Cox's "uniquely powerful showing" and echoed his words that the President "is not above the law's commands."

Committees Probing Ford's Background

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate committees have started background investigations on vice presidential nominee Gerald R. Ford as a prelude to confirmations hearings.

Majorities in both houses have said they plan to vote for the 60-year-old Michigan congressman, unless something unexpected turns up in his background.

Ford, already given a vice presidential office, jet plane and entree to intelligence briefings and Cabinet meetings by President Nixon, said he doesn't know of anything that could cause problems.

Meanwhile, Ford has confirmed that he did not include contributions of $11,500 in his signed declaration to the House clerk after the 1970 elections, saying it was because he had endorsed the contributions over to the Republican National Congressional Committee for other Republican campaigns.

The chairmen of the House Judiciary and Senate Rules Committees said Saturday, as Ford's nomination was submitted to Congress, they planned full probes on the House GOP leader.

Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said "we intend to see to it that the implementation of the 25th Amendment is in full compliance in word and history with the legislative history that created it."

He said committee investigators would review Ford's background and financial situation. He said he hoped hearings can start within two weeks. Television coverage will be permitted, Rodino said.

Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., held a preliminary meeting of the Senate Rules Committee, at which it approved his proposal for a full FBI investigation of Ford.

Cannon has said it would be at least two weeks before public hearings could start, but committee sources said the schedule would be reviewed at a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The committee approved Cannon's proposal to open the hearings to television coverage.

An Associated Press poll showed that at least 57 senators and 225 House members planned to vote for the nomination, barring derogatory disclosures. In the Senate 51 votes are needed for a majority while in the House 218 votes would be needed.

Toastmasters Plan Discussion About Women

KINGSTON — Membership for Women will be discussed when the Kingston Toastmasters Club meets at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, October 18, at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The Toastmasters International Board of Directors recently gave clubs through the nation the option of opening membership to women.

The Kingston Toastmasters Club meets on the first and third Thursday of each month to provide members with a professionally designed program to improve their communications abilities and to develop leadership potential through prepared speeches, impromptu talks, study of parliamentary procedure, conferences and committee leadership and participation techniques. Members are evaluated in detail by fellow toastmasters.

Anyone interested in joining can make arrangements by contacting the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

EPA Approves Transportation Control Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has approved transportation control plans, with restrictions ranging up to fuel rationing, for 22 metropolitan areas.

EPA administrator Russell E. Train called the restrictions, designed to meet 1977 clean-air deadlines, "unreasonable." He said he will ask Congress to give EPA authority to extend the deadline for areas in deep trouble.

Five areas in California and Denver, Colo., appeared to face the most severe restrictions.

The agency issued the plans Monday under the prodding of a court order in a lawsuit brought by the Natural Resources Defense Council.

The restrictions include mandatory inspection of car pollution controls, downtown parking surcharges, modification of older vehicles and express lanes for car pools.

However, the agency said these measures would not be enough for the five California areas to meet the 1977 standards for clean air set by Congress.

To meet the standards, local governments in the areas would have to cut back drastically the number of vehicles allowed on the road, the agency said.

For instance, Los Angeles and San Francisco would have to virtually eliminate all vehicle traffic. Traffic in the San Joaquin Valley would be cut by 39 per cent. Sacramento by 59 per cent. San Diego by 53 per cent.

The cutbacks would be achieved by rationing the amount of fuel provided to service stations, the agency's plan said.

The agency classified Denver as a sixth area where fuel rationing to reduce traffic was included as a "last resort" measure.

However, agency officials said the planned eight per cent cut in Denver traffic to meet the 1977 deadline seemed achievable by implementing the other elements in its plan.

Other metropolitan areas covered by the controls are Boston and Springfield, Mass.; Portland, Ore.; Minneapolis-St. Paul, Minn.; Cincinnati; the Texas areas of Dallas-Ft. Worth, Austin-Waco, San Antonio, Houston-Galveston, and El Paso, and Las Cruces-Alamogordo, N.M.

Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., asked for a delay in the standards to avoid "economic paralysis."

With a delay, Tunney said, mass transit could be expanded and a new, low-pollution engine for cars might be developed.

Americans Urged to Change Daily Habits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two government agencies today were urging Americans to make substantial changes in their daily habits—one to save fuel and the other to clean up the air.

William E. Simon, deputy Treasury secretary and chairman of President Nixon's Oil Policy Committee, wants Americans to begin an "all-out" voluntary effort to conserve fuel to make the country independent of Middle East supplies.

He said Monday that such an effort could save 2.7 million barrels of oil a day, more than enough to offset the current dependence on imports of Arabian oil, now running at 1.1 million barrels daily.

Such conservation measures, said Simon, would include reducing highway speed limits to 50 miles per hour; tuning up automobile engines every six months; using cold water detergents to wash clothes; lowering thermostats in homes and office buildings by three degrees; increasing the load factors on commercial aircraft, thus lowering the number of flights; and greater use of car pools and public transportation.

Meanwhile, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Monday announced further steps for cleaning up the air around major cities by encouraging Americans to change their driving habits toward car pools and mass transit.

EPA's plan calls for parking taxes in parts of California to encourage people to use mass transit. Some businesses would be required to give priority parking space to car pools to pay bus fares of workers who don't drive.

There would be a parking surcharge of 25 cents per hour in parts of Boston, again to cut down on use of private cars. In Denver there would be car pool and bus lanes and a limit on future construction of parking lots.

However, EPA Administrator Russell E. Train said he was asking Congress to revise the Clean Air Act of 1970 to allow him to relax even more stringent rules announced earlier, one of which would have had the effect of banning all cars from Los Angeles by 1977.

ESOPUS DEMOCRATS — Esopus Supervisor George Freer, second right, cut the ribbon at the recent opening of the Esopus Democratic campaign headquarters on Broadway in Port Ewen. Taking part in the ceremony were (L) Lawrence Hiller, candidate for town justice; Helen Dargie, candidate for reelection as tax collector; and James J. Fairley, candidate for the Ulster County Legislature in District 7 (Esopus-Rosendale).

Ms. Herr Raps GOP 'Tokenism'

NEW PALTZ — Linda Herr, Democratic candidate for the Ulster County Legislature from Dist. 8, responded this week to the "Republican's proposed nuclear moratorium" saying it "is a mere token, not a total commitment to the proposed nuclear plant."

She said the moratorium resolution is weak because its wording leaves the door wide open for future nuclear power plant development and asks for merely "satisfactory" solutions to the waste and heat disposal hazards and it does not stipulate what safety standards the Legislature would find "satisfactory."

Ms. Herr claimed that the resolution practically invites federal and state atomic agencies to come forth with "satisfactory" answers about nuclear facilities rather than standing firmly against such facilities on Ulster County land.

She proposes three steps in including demanding a series of legislative meetings with officials from the New York State Atomic and Space Development Authority to express complete opposition to the siting of a nuclear plant in Ulster County.

Also appointing either a new committee to empower a standing committee to disseminate information on nuclear plants to the citizens of Ulster County and to work on ways of lobbying against the proposed nuclear plant.

She suggests that the Inter-County Council, of which Legislative Chairman Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8) is chairman, come out strongly against the siting of nuclear power plants in this region.

It is only through assertive, definitive efforts by the Legislature and by the citizens themselves that the development of nuclear facilities can be stopped. The great health hazards that such plants visit upon our children and upon future generations demand that we vigorously oppose them. It is time we demand strength of purpose from our Legislature rather than putting up with half-way stands and political gestures on imperative issues, she concluded.

Nyquist Hits Fraud Bureau

NEW PALTZ — "What we need in Ulster County is the diligent prosecution of those businesses guilty of consumer fraud, by the authorities to the full measure of the law. But businesses that steal from us — who overcharge, who replace parts that don't need replacing, who indulge consistently in false advertising, or who knowingly sell defective items — are only given warnings," he said.

Nyquist said that "one which will vigorously in-assumes that the majority of businesses are honest, just as one assumes that the majority of consumers are honest. But if we are going to prosecute us to know who to buy from a shoplifter caught taking items worth $25 from a store, then we should prosecute the automobile repair shop that steals $100 from us in the form of repairs that are totally unnecessary and we should bring the court the construction firm that cheats us through the use of inferior materials."

The Liberal Party-endorsed candidate who seeks to represent Gardiner, Lloyd, Marlboro, New Paltz and Plattekill, under the new reapportionment plan, noted that "at the very best we need a Consumer Protection Bureau which will vigorously investigate complaints and publish the names of those firms that have been guilty of improper activities. This helps us to know who to buy from and discourages business dishonesty."

Nyquist said that to be more effective the existing Consumer Fraud Bureau should also serve as a central clearing house. It ought to have on hand material published by such agencies as the federal Consumer Product Information Center, and should publicize needed data on comparative pricing, the legal rights of consumers, relevant laws on the books and any pending legislation, he suggested.

Gottlieb Says Save Open Spaces

WOODSTOCK should, if possible, be maintained in their present unspoiled state," Gottlieb said. "But nobody, including the town board, seems to have come up with an answer as to how to do it. We have zoning laws, a town planning board, and a zoning board of appeals, but other than the power of the planning board to require developers to set aside up to ten per cent of their land for green belt or recreation, none of these bodies really can keep these many beautiful areas of ours from being developed."

"Most people are under the impression that the only way to prevent these areas from being developed is for the town to buy them up—something it obviously cannot afford to do except on a very modest scale. But under this law, the town can achieve the preservation of these lands without any transfer of ownership through a conservation or scenic easement by which the owner gives up his right to develop the land either forever or for a given number of years."

"The single most important issue facing the town of Woodstock is the preservation of its present quality of life. Acquisition of easements by the town and private non-profit groups is one of the best ways available of accomplishing the result. If elected, I intend to devote a great deal of my efforts on the board working in this area," Gottlieb said.

Chase Cites Big Government

PINE PLAINS County, whose chief concerns a few years ago were the administration of courts and jails and construction and maintenance of highways, are now administering a multitude of health, mental health, social service programs, community colleges, airports, solid waste disposal systems and parks and recreation programs. In this climate of citizen dissatisfaction and pressure for change, elected officials have important responsibilities."

Chase, a graduate of Yale University with a bachelor's degree in psychology, is employed by IBM in Kingston as manager of the Programming Information Group. He is a past president of the Lions Club, chairman of the town Republican committee, town supervisor from 1959 through 1963, a liaison member to the Board of Trustees of Dutchess Community College, a member of the town Board of Fire Commissioners, and a member of the American Legion.

Chase is married to the former Marjorie Walberg of Rhinebeck and resides with her and their three sons in Pine Plains.

"Citizens are beginning to feel overwhelmed by government," said Clyde R. Chase, Republican candidate for county representative from the newly created 29th District.

"The concept of government as a provider of services is beginning to be overshadowed by the concept of government as an adversary," Chase said. "This dissatisfaction appears to be most pronounced in relation to county government."

"I promised my wife and daughter their very own home."

"How do you tell your family you can't keep a promise?"

Start by telling them 3.4 million families lose out on housing when mortgage rates go up every 1%. And with interest rates pushing 10%, millions of Americans won't be homeowners. And that may include your family.

BUT PROMISES ARE FOR KEEPING

And we want to help America's families. That's why we started a REALTOR ACTION PROGRAM to bring the mortgage crisis to a halt. And with your help we will. Just promise us that you and every member of your family will sign our REALTOR ACTION PETITION.

Your name with thousands of others across this nation will be presented to the Congress next month.

Why are REALTORS doing all this? Simple. We believe every American who can afford a home deserves one at reasonable terms. And we're going to do our best to see it happen. That's our promise to you. So you won't have to break your promise.

REALTOR ACTION PETITION

We, the undersigned, are deeply concerned about the existing mortgage money crisis. High interest rates and the disappearance of available mortgage money have robbed us of the ability to buy and sell real estate. Home ownership is the heart of our economic security, and, in this crisis time, this security has vanished.

As signers of this petition, we call upon our elected Senators and Representatives in Washington to take immediate action to correct the existing mortgage money situation. We urgently request that the Congress work closely with the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® to develop a reasonable and rational mortgage program to protect the 80,000,000 property owners of America.

Justice Candidate On Consumer Affairs

NEW PALTZ to press his or her claim. "Sim- Alan Sussman, Democratic ple fairness is what counts," he candidate for Town Justice in said, "not the complexities of New Paltz, feels the consumer law."

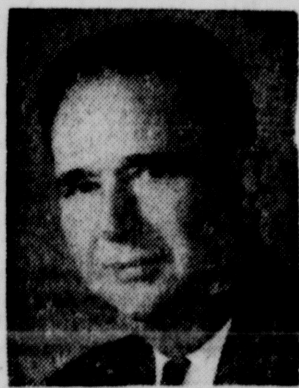

ALAN SUSSMAN

Sussman, 30, graduated from law school in 1970 and served on the staff of the Legal Aid Society and the New York State Executive Department, Division for Youth. He presently teaches a course in the Experimental Studies Department at State University College at New Paltz on justice and legal rights. Speaking of his candidacy, Sussman said that "since I have legal training, I will be able to explain the law to the people and increase their awareness of the rights they possess, especially as consumers. After all the justice court does not exist only for criminals," he said. Meanwhile, the New Paltz Democratic Club announced it will present An Evening with Howard Rust Friday from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the Chef Jo-Mar Restaurant on Route 299 in New Paltz. The Democratic candidates for local and county offices will be present. Tickets may be purchased from any club member, com- mittee member, or at the door.

Merrill Backs Volunteers In Fire 'Standby' Dispute

The fact that various volunteer fire companies in the City of Kingston "are left on standby until a paid fire department vehicle arrives at the scene of a fire... even though the volunteer fire company may be just around the corner," brought forth sharp comment today from Republican candidate for mayor William B. Merrill.

"This is not right," he said. "How many times at a major fire have volunteers come in and manned paid stations... or for that matter, outnumbered the paid department men at the scene of a fire? And which volunteer company has always protected salvage invaluable to property owners?" Merrill said that it is time for the City of Kingston to make a decision — and for the present administration to make a firm stand. Do we have to wait until a death or serious injury occurs before we resolve the paid and volunteer departments' squabble? Is the present administration closing its doors on this matter? Or should we change and involve everyone in the revitalization of the volunteer companies? Merrill asked.

Mrs. Bartz: County Action Needed on Refuse Problems

The County of Ulster must get involved in the problem of solid waste disposal "as soon as possible," according to County Legislative candidate for election from the City of Kingston.

Mrs. Bartz said that of all the problems that confront us in Ulster County, this one comes to the forefront and that it should become "Project 1974" and that if she is elected, she will see to it that the program will be in operation.

Agreed, that it is not just a problem locally, but a national problem, Mrs. Bartz said that in the difference here is that we face a "crisis situation" here in Kingston. Although this may be a problem that the city can solve, it may be well to face the fact that what we are aware of within our own city can also be a problem within other towns and villages in Ulster County.

Last week's Daily Freeman indicated that the Town of Rosendale was also confronted with a land fill problem. Therefore, it is my firm conviction that the county must get involved in this problem as soon as possible, she said.

Environmental Control Agencies have been set up in most of the counties in New York State. Most have the same program, to find and supply landfill sites for all within the county. My investigation indicates that Orange County to the south, and Dutchess County to the east are further along with the solution to the problem. "Someone with concern must become involved with this problem," she suggested, indicating she would be interested in tackling the job.

Mullany Demo Speaker

Kingston lawyer William C. Mullany, Democratic candidate for Family Court Judge, will be guest speaker at a meeting and smorgasbord to be held by the Saugerties Democratic Committee, Friday at 8 p.m. at the Flamingo Restaurant, Rt. 9W in Saugerties.

Tickets may be secured from Trudy Lee or Maurice Hinchey. Mullany, who has a large family and is from one himself feels he therefore can understand the many problems which befall families. He considers himself firm, fair and sensitive to human problems.

He is a graduate of St. John's College and St. John's University Law School. His civic activities include the American Legion, Red Cross, Boy Scouts, as appeals agent for the local draft board and he is a member of the Town of Ulster Board of Ethics.

Paltz Democrat Candidate Night

NEW PALTZ — New Paltz Democratic Club is inviting all members of the community to an evening of music and dancing and the opportunity to meet and talk with local Democratic candidates.

It will be held Friday, Oct. 19 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Chef Jo-Mar Restaurant, Rt. 299, New Paltz. Music will be provided by the Howard Rust Trio.

Tickets may be purchased from any club member or the Democratic Committee or at the door.

Klein Cites GOP 'Decoy' Tactics

ROSENDALE — Charges of inconsistent actions and decoy tactics on the part of Republican members of the Ulster County Legislature were leveled this week by Louis M. Klein (D-Dist. 7) who gave some examples to illustrate his point.

Klein said that the GOP supported a resolution seeking a study to apply food stamps to the Meals-On-Wheels Program, but then in turn rejected a Democratic amendment calling for a commitment to this program even if the food stamps are not available. "This amounted to only powder puff support and window dressing aimed at misleading the electorate and covering up the almost complete lack of support given senior citizens by the Republican majority," Klein claimed. The Rosendale lawyer also accused his opponent, Republican Legislator Glenn Debrosky (R-Dist. 7) of often giving "lip service" to a desire to curb increasing property taxes but then casting his vote against two measures aimed at cutting the property tax burden in Ulster County, namely an assessment reform procedure and the creation of an industrial development board. Klein said that "most people know that improper assessments are the best cause of real property tax abuse. Yet your legislators see fit to defeat a resolution seeking a study of assessment abuses and the creation of a local law aimed at curbing these abuses." Klein claimed further that Debrosky "in fact, went so far as to override the Town Board of the Town of Rosendale which approved the resolution, and engage in a totally unwarranted character assassination of the main proponent of this resolution, Edward Connelly, chairman of the Board of Assessors of the Town of Rosendale."

Regarding industrial development, Klein challenged the Ulster County Industrial Public Relations Committee Chairman Eugene Noe (R-Dist. 9) "to come forth with any significant accomplishments within the field of industrial development in Southern Ulster County." Klein claims the GOP has been fighting creation of an Industrial Development Committee.

"Some critics say we are moving too slowly on zoning, citing the many surrounding towns who already have zoning," Goertz said. "Many are reluctant to have their life style changed by too strict zoning regulations. I feel we must plan for the future, but we must have an informed public — we must know all the pros and cons before final adoption of a zoning ordinance."

Goertz Outlines Platform

SAUGERTIES — Noting that many voters did not have a chance to attend the Candidates Night held recently, Charles Goertz, Republican-Conservative candidate for Town of Saugerties supervisor, has released a statement containing his thoughts on town matters.

Goertz noted that he had seen extensive growth during the 30 years he vacationed in the area, and during his residence here since retiring. "This growth has brought the need for additional schools, housing, new businesses, new roads and additional town planning and services," he noted. "I am not an experienced politician, I am not an experienced administrator and businessman. When elected your supervisor, I will work full time for you with no increased cost to the taxpayers." Goertz said he would work to keep taxes at reasonable levels without cutting necessary town services, that he would work closely with the village government for mutual benefit, and will continue to work toward upgrading the town police department. Promising to work closely with the planning board and zoning commission, he said he would name a councilman to serve as liaison with the two groups, and would encourage a series of public hearings and informational hearings before townspeople are asked to review the entire zoning ordinance.

Miller Attacks Schovel

SAUGERTIES — "Supervisor A. Michael Schovel is shortchanging the senior citizens at the same time that he pretends to be their friend," charged Paul Miller, Saugerties Democratic Candidate for Town Supervisor recently. "He has deliberately created the impression that his home relief expenses are twice as high as is actually the case, and he has put into next year's budget money for home relief that could have been allotted to meeting the needs of our senior citizens."

"Home relief expenses were actually $3,800 for the first eight months of this year," Miller went on to say, "and probably will reach $5,700 for the full year. Schovel is setting aside $12,000 for next year. I say that a budget of $8,600 would have been adequate and would have provided a big 50 per cent safety factor. The additional $3,400 could have been set aside for other worthwhile community projects; for example, programs for developing the skills and earning power of senior citizens."

Miller then noted that home relief costs rose from $11,000 in 1971 to about $25,000 in 1972. "Instead of boasting about the lower cost in 1973," said Miller, "maybe Schovel should explain how he let the situation get out of hand in 1972. He tries to give the impression he cracked down on the situation and brought it under control by vigorous action. If we accept his explanation as true then we are also forced to conclude that he reacted too slowly and cost the taxpayers $14,000 in 1972." "Our senior citizens," said Miller in conclusion, "are distinguished from other members of the Saugerties community by the fact that they are generally forced to meet expenses on a relatively fixed income, while everyone else, although feeling the effects of inflation, can look forward to salary increases to compensate, at least in part, for the squeeze they are caught in."

PALEY'S FOOD MARKET — A new IGA food market opened recently on Lucas Avenue between Rolling Meadows and Hurley Four Corners. Formerly referred to by area residents as the "Pink Store," the new business will be known as Paley's IGA Food Market. Meat specialists, the store's owners, (L) Harold Lipton, Bruce Paley and Howard Paley will carry a full line of fresh meats, groceries, beer and newspapers. Congratulating the new market operators is Henry Harpes (R), who leased the property to them. (Freeman photo by Haines)

It's Now Sawyer Savings Bank

SAUGERTIES
It's official. Saugerties Savings Bank for 102 years is now the Sawyer Savings Bank.

The name change became official earlier this month when a large banner was unfurled in front of the Saugerties banking institution heralding the name change.

Henry S. Hartley, the bank president, on hand for the name changing event, tended to take a low-key view of the happenings.

"Actually," he said, "the bank has changed its name only. Our policies and our direction will continue in their present course."

A gala open house with refreshments followed the official ceremony marking the change in the bank's name. And Sawyer Savings Bank is continuing its celebration throughout the remainder of the month with awards being selected every Friday.

Hartley, meanwhile, noted that the new name presents a more broadly-based image, and this type of image is essential for both immediate acceptance and long-term success in other areas.

John M. Robbins, executive vice-president emphasized that the new name is highly suggestive of Saugerties' past.

pointing out the particular sawmill brings with it a strong spheres of influence by moving the bank may be obtained at importance which the sawmill identity factor, adding "it will into new territories, and this is the main office, 87 Market Street, Saugerties, junction of holds in the local heritage. He make us more immediately highly advantageous." Information on all services of Ulster Avenue.

Arctic Cat Has Expanded Line

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN. — An expanded Panther line, including the luxurious VIP, Track-tuned and Trail-tuned El Tigres, and a sporty new Lynx model, combine to make the 1974 line of Arctic Cat snowmobiles the most complete in history.

The VIP tops the 1974 Panther line, with standard deluxe features including a hydraulic torque converter, electric start, electronic ignition with surface gap plugs, full instrumentation, and a self-energizing disc brake. The VIP is powered by a specially-designed Arctic 440cc twin with an oil injection system. It measures the standard Panther dimensions of 88 inches high, and 34 inches wide, and one-half inches long. 34 440 cc options are available in inches high, and 34 inches wide, the Trail-tuned El Tigre. Both A dark chocolate-brown hood and pleated, vinyl seat, or engines with tuned exhaust. The named with gold trim and 400 and 440 El Tigres feature lettering, give the VIP a look of genuine distinction.

Other Panther options include the 295 Wankel and 340 or 440cc Arctic Cat engines. The 340 and 440 Panthers feature electronic ignition, radio frequency interference (RFI) suppression systems, and Arctic's new torque-sensitive drive clutch. The Panther 340 and 440 models include one-piece, foam-cushioned seats with tapered edges for added comfort.

Two fast-moving models in the 1974 Arctic Cat line are the Track-tuned and Trail-tuned El Tigres. Arctic's 290 and 440cc engines are available in the Track-tuned El Tigre; 340 and 440 cc options are available in the Trail-tuned El Tigre. Both models sport Arctic's free-air El Tigres, Arctic offers two Lynx models for 1974, including Lynx 1 with the 295 Wankel and 292cc engine options, and the sporty new Lynx II, with 340 and 440cc options.

Lynx I and II feature float-type carburetion, RFI suppression systems, a new Arctic clutch, large rear-seat storage compartment and one-piece high density foam seats, with tapered edges. Lynx I is 74 inches long, 31 inches high, and 31 inches wide. Lynx II measures 84 inches in length, 31 inches high and 31 inches wide.

Two Cheetah models, with 340 and 440cc Arctic engine options, complete the 1974 Arctic Cat line. Both models have a staggered, two-thirds cleated track, RFI suppression systems, and Arctic's new torque-sensitive clutch. Other Cheetah features include a bright 2-way 12,000 candlepower headlight, a larger rear-cushion storage compartment, and a one-piece seat with tapered edges.

All 1974 Arctic Cat snowmobiles are equipped with Arctic's torsion-spring, slide-rail suspension with an internal shock, performance-matched to the weight of the machine. Other features include one-piece, high density foam cushion seats, handlebar-mounted emergency shut-off switches, two-way headlights, and an emergency shut-off system integrated in the throttle linkage. All 1974 models meet or exceed the maximum 82 db of sound level at 50 feet.

Arctic Cat dealers in the Kingston area include Buster Dunn S and S, Kingston; Ray Rothe S and S, Woodstock; Dickens Lawn and Garden, Rhinebeck and Dina's Power,

Two Local Delegates To Retail Meeting

ALBANY — Two Kingston businessmen — Anthony G. Saccoman of Saccoman Jewelers, 576 Broadway, and Martin Sheer of Lafayette Radio, Ulster Shopping Plaza — are delegates to the 42nd annual meeting of the New York State Council of Retail Merchants.

The meetings began Sunday at Paradise Island in Nassau, the Bahamas, and will continue through Oct. 21.

The primary emphasis at these sessions will be the retailer and how he is to deal with an increasingly sophisticated consumer.

The Council, which is the state's largest retail trade association, will hold a series of seminars and discussion sessions dealing with all aspects of the consumer movement — the Retailers Image to the Public, Student Attitudes Toward the Retail Industry, Government Relations, Retailing and the Retailer and his Consumer and a Personal Relationship.

Founded in 1932 by a group of merchants who felt that the state government needs to be supplied with objective information on retailing, the scope of the council has broadened with changing social values. Today, the council, besides continuing its original task of providing information to various state agencies, is involved in such projects as community-wide anti-shoplifting campaigns, educational programs, merchandise management clinics as well as consumer-liaison.

Appraising Course Held in New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — The Society of Real Estate Appraisers sponsored an intensive course in residential appraising this summer at the State University of New York in New Paltz.

The special instructors for the course were James Scott from Atlanta, Ga., and Leland Bookhout, president of the local Mid-Hudson Chapter 123 of the Society. Bookhout has been an appraiser in the valley for over 10 years and has his office in Hyde Park.

The Society strives to encourage its members to further their education and professional capabilities by sponsoring courses of this type throughout the country. This course was attended by appraisers, bankers, engineers, assessors and real estate people from 19 different states plus Canada, Jamaica and the Virgin Islands.

Three local residents, John Brugmann, Daniel Devine Jr.

and Andrew Simmons, were among the 60 students recently receiving word that they had successfully completed this course and passed the test. Brugmann is with Shattemuck Realty Co. Inc., in Kingston. Daniel Devine Jr. office is on Washington Avenue in Kingston and Andrew Simmons is with the Arthur F. Simmons Agency in Saugerties.

Merch-Royce Nuptials Are Announced

Sandra Lorraine Merch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin R. Merch of 57 Country Club Lane, Woodstock, exchanged nuptial vows with Duane Royce, son of Ellsworth Royce of Lyndonville, Vt., and the late Mrs. Ellsworth Royce.

The Rev. Gerald O'Shea officiated at the ceremony Saturday, Oct. 6 at St. Joan of Arc Church in Woodstock. Richard Emery, Columbus, Ohio, guitarist, provided wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a gown styled with an old-fashioned look, made of imported Moosum from Iraq. The gown was fashioned with a Venice collar, puffed sleeves with bone buttons, and was trimmed with an overskirt of Venice lace featuring a ruffled bottom. The gown was designed and made by Mrs. Michael Zeckowitz, the bride's aunt. A picture hat held her illusion veil and she carried a lighted candle in silver holder.

Lynn Schwerert, sister of the bride, Ithaca, was matron of honor in a forest green gown styled with a ruffled neckline and ruffled hemline. She carries a lighted candle in a silver holder.

Katie Orr of Boston, Mass., was an attendant. Her gown in bright orange was identical in styling to the honor attendant's and she carried a similar candle in holder.

Vincent Landry of New Hampshire was best man. Ushering was Clyde Royce, brother of the bridegroom, Washington, D.C.

A reception was given at Sawyerkill Country Club in Saugerties.

Mrs. Royce, a graduate of Oteora Central School and Drew University in New Jersey, is employed by the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, New Hampshire.

The bridegroom, an alumnus of New Hampshire University is an engineer at Westinghouse, Boston, Mass.

After a wedding trip to Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Royce will reside in Rye, N.H.

Wedding Plans Are Being Made Here

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. Collins of South Village Avenue, Rockville Centre, announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruthann Grace, to Francis Paul Tocco, son of Dr. and Mrs. Anthony Tocco of Stone Ridge.

Miss Collins was graduated from Taylor Business Institute in 1970 and is employed as an executive secretary with the New York Telephone Company in New York City.

Her fiancé was graduated from South Kent Preparatory School, South Kent, Conn., in 1965, and from University of Miami, Florida, class of 1969. He is also employed with the New York Telephone Company in New York City.

A December 29 wedding at St. Agnes Cathedral Parish, Rockville Centre, is planned.

Mrs. Charles Perry of 191 Salem Street, Port Ewen, announces the engagement of her daughter, Agnes (Cookie), to Thomas A. Buccieri, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Buccieri, 25 Delaware Road, Newburgh. Miss Perry is also the daughter of the late Charles (Chappie) Perry.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Academy of St. Ursula and State University College at New Paltz. She is employed as a fifth grade teacher at Meagher School of Kingston Consolidated School System.

Her fiancé, an alumnus of Newburgh Free Academy and Orange County Community College, attended floral designing schools in Europe. He is employed by Carriage House Florist, Kingston.

An Easter, 1974 wedding is planned.

Sisterhood Will Install New Officers Saturday

The installation of new officers of Congregation Agudas Achim will be held Saturday, Oct. 20. The event will be sponsored by the Sisterhood. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Irving Rudolph and Mrs. Philip Kleinman.

Mrs. Mike Weiner conducted a meeting recently at which Mrs. Jonathan Oseas spoke on the Daughters of Sara Jewish Home for the Aged in Albany. Those wishing to make a donation for this cause should contact Mrs. Oseas, Box 147, Hurley, or Jewish Community Center in Kingston.

Mrs. Herman Slomovits, Mrs. Leon Crystal and Mrs. David Barkin were named as a committee to prepare the "breaking of the fast" of Yom Kippur.

Sisterhood's paid-up membership dinner is slated for November 14. Serving on committee are the Mmes. Ira Trast, Irving Rudolph, Ben Suskind, Morton Levine, Morris Berman, Ben Werbalowsky, Nathan Katasky, Jack Sheinvald, Sidney Weinberger, Mike Weiner and Martin Weinberger.

Mrs. Sidney Weinberger presented a nostalgic program entitled "Bring and Brag."

Members were reminded of the upcoming art show in March and the Tri-Sisterhood meeting in April, sponsored by Agudas Achim.

Mrs. Harriet Katasky served refreshments.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
© 1973, Emily Post Institute, Inc.

The rules governing introductions sound very complicated. But the really are not, if you just remember that the person whose name you say first is the one the other is being introduced to. Since men are always introduced to women, you say the woman's name first:

"Mrs. Smith, I'd like you to meet John Simmons," or simply, "Mrs. Coward, Mr. Brooks." Women, older people, and more prominent people are almost always given the place of honor by having others introduced to them.

Check your knowledge with the following introductions, and see how you would score. Seven or eight is very good. Less than five, you fail!

Can you give a correct example of an introduction, as far as placement of names goes, in each of the following cases?

Q. A boy introducing his father and a college classmate.

A. "Dad, I'd like you to meet my roommate, Joe Smith." It is not necessary to say Dad's name as it is the same as his. If he is a stepfather, the boy would add, "Joe, this is my stepfather, Mr. Simms."

Q. A pupil introducing his mother and his teacher.

A. "Mrs. Fenimore, this is my mother (or my stepmother, Mrs. Carter)." When introducing a member of your family to someone or less a contemporary, as a courteous gesture you put the outsider's name first, giving him (or her) more importance.

Q. A wife introducing her husband and a friend.

A. "Sarah, I'd like you to meet my husband, Bob," or simply, "Bob" if Sarah knows who "Bob" is. More formally, she would say, "Mr. Goldstein, may I introduce my husband?"

Q. A woman introducing a clergyman and her niece.

A. "Bishop (or Father) O'Donnell, may I present my niece, Joan Carson?" Clergy are given the place of honor, except possibly in the case of a very young minister and a much older woman.

Q. A woman introducing her son's wife and a friend.

A. "Virginia, I'd like you to meet my wife, Helen. Helen, this is my old friend and neighbor, Mrs. Harrison."

Q. A husband introducing his wife to an old college friend.

A. "Sam, I want you to meet my wife, Helen. Helen, Sam Holden — he was in my class at Penn."

Q. A woman introducing an older friend and a young girl.

A. "Florence, this is Nancy Smith. Peggy Smith's daughter, Nancy, this is Mrs. Knight."

Q. A senator introducing the President of the United States and one of his committee chairmen.

A. "Mr. President, may I present the head of my fundraising committee, Mr. Banks?"

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Roberti of RD 4, Box 261, Saugerties, renewed their wedding vows on their 50th wedding anniversary in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, Saturday, Oct. 6. The Rev. Joseph Santulin officiated at the evening ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Michael E. Catalinotto of Saugerties were the honor attendants. A dinner-party was given afterwards for members of the immediate family and friends at The Capri 400 in Port Ewen. Mr. and Mrs. Roberti were married Oct. 4, 1923 in Agrigento, Italy. Their son Joseph, who is married to the former Mary Rinaldi of Rhinebeck, resides with his wife and two children in Saugerties. A niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Diego Cumbo, reside in Glasco.

Teen Square Dancing

On Sunday from 2 to 4:30 o'clock, teenagers will be gathering in the Flatbush Reformed Church off Route 32 to learn about square dancing. The free fun night is open to all teenagers in the Ulster County area.

The program is sponsored by the Whirling Wonders Teen Square Dance Club to acquaint teenagers with the basics and fun of square dancing.

On October 28, regular sessions will be initiated at the nominal fee of one dollar per session. All money is used to defray expenses of holding the dance sessions.

Square dancing has made a remarkable comeback and is attracting people of all ages. If you have energy to expend, this is one great way to do it.

Join the Whirling Wonders on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Club Names Speaker

In an effort to educate the public against fraud and inform the consumer regarding his rights under the law, the Woman's Club of Saugerties will have as its guest speaker for October 18, Miss Ellen Donovan, chief assistant district attorney.

Miss Donovan will discuss ways the consumer can protect herself against fraud, what one's rights are under the law, what the consumer Fraud Bureau is, how it operates, and the types of complaints it receives.

Chief Assistant District Attorney Donovan is a graduate of Russell Sage College, and Albany College of Law. She has been affiliated with the District Attorney's office for four and one half years and was made chief assistant district attorney last January.

Also speaking at this meeting will be Cpl. Arthur Nersesian member of the Ulster County Sheriff's Department for three and one half years. He will speak on a new technique for marking property as protection against theft.

Members are also urged to donate children's clothing for the benefit of the Neighborhood Service Center.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in Trinity Episcopal Parish House, Saugerties.

Old Kingston Academy Reunion Held

The 1915 graduation class of Old Kingston Academy held its annual reunion at Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, on Sunday, Oct. 7. As is the custom, former classes and friends were invited to participate in the festivities.

Dorothy Dana Leighton presided at the piano for a group-singing of Alma Mater Old Kingston Academy. Two members of the class of 1909 created this spirited song for the school. Sam Scudder composed the music and the late Laura Reiner Palen wrote the words which are expressive of the school's location and historical significance.

Those attending were: 1915, James Black and wife, Harold Bernstein, Lea Harford Randall, John P. Fitzgerald, Ruth Bushnell Brinner,

William A. Carl and wife, Lillian Wesley Van Vliet and husband, Raymond E. Craft, Arpha Lawson Craft, Harry du Bois Frey, Olive Hammond Karing, Louise Thomas Iseman and husband; 1914 class; Nellie Elmendorf, Alma Tyler Pfommer, Bertha Waterman, Florence Wheeler Spencer and husband, Ruth Glendenning, Walter Schmid, Ruth N. Smith, Helen Thomas

Class of 1909, Flora Norton Palen; class of 1916, Harry Elmendorf, Olive Clearwater Inglis, Lillian Herdman, Florence Tappen, H. LeRoy Gill.

Other guests in attendance, were Jessie Wolfersteig, Alvarez D. Rose, Alice E. Toole, Mrs. Eugene Seneador, Mrs. Walter Miller, Mrs. Isobel Boatright, Katherine D. Millard, Jim Black, Mrs. Fred Henneke, George Muller.

Oktoberfest Program Set

Action for Women announced today that it has scheduled an old-fashioned Oktoberfest for Friday, Oct. 19, at 8 p.m. at the Fireside Lounge at Marist College, Poughkeepsie.

The Oktoberfest will have an old-fashioned spirit, and will feature music, entertainment, singing, dancing, food and drink. Sandee Cohen and Connie Reena, well-known feminist entertainers, will be featured at the gathering. Both women have appeared throughout the East Coast and recently appeared at the International Feminist Planning Conference in Cambridge, Mass. All area women are asked to bring contributions of food, beverages and any musical instruments that they may have. A small donation, for the benefit of the Women's Center, will be requested. A spokeswoman for Action for Women, Alice Kintisch, said, "This evening will be an opportunity for all Hudson Valley women to meet each other in an atmosphere of warmth, friendship and sisterhood. We hope that the music and good conversation will be relaxing and that the evening will be a source of joy and inspiration."

Vermont Speaker for Local Club

Guest speaker at the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens' second meeting of the fall season was Mrs. Ethel Simmons Twichell, of Manchester, Vt.

Emphasizing the use of plant materials found locally during this season of the year, Mrs. Twichell created her arrangements with weathered wood and wildflowers.

Mrs. Twichell has won many first awards including five Tri-Color awards. She is a member of the Manchester, Vt. Garden Club. Mrs. Twichell was formerly associated with the N.Y. State Museum at Albany, in public relations work.

Club president, Mrs. John Whittier, conducted a business meeting afterward.

Mrs. James Babb, chairman of the annual luncheon, announced the event will be held at the Forbidden City Restaurant on Wednesday, Oct. 24th. All members and associate members are being contacted by the committee for reservations.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Robert Finger and her committee, Mrs. William Everts and Mrs. Robert Freer.

Doctor Develops Home Treatment that RINSES AWAY BLACKHEADS Help Dry Up ACNE-PIMPLES...

QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE

MUST SHOW IMMEDIATE IMPROVEMENT — OR YOUR MONEY BACK

A leading New York Doctor, working with a cosmetic laboratory, has developed a simple home treatment that rinses away blackheads, helps dry up acne pimples, and shrinks enlarged pores. The name of this medicated product is QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE. Apply this delectably Mint-Scented Cream and within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla, dries and turns this cream into a plastic-like masque. You will now feel as though hundreds of "tiny fingers" are kneading the skin, loosening pore-caked dirt, blackheads and other foreign impurities. As if firms and hardens, its suction action draws out waste matter from the pores... In 15 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see that blackheads and other pore "filler" actually comes off on your wash cloth. And your skin feels clean... really clean... refreshed, smooth like velvet. Women 35 and over will enjoy the skin tightening experience as the masque relaxes tired facial muscles and eases tension lines on face and throat. If you suffer the agony of blackheads, acne-pimples, and enlarged pores, give yourself this home treatment and see the breath-taking results. Ask for it by name QUEEN HELENE MINT JULEP MASQUE.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a mother should cover up for Father, so the children won't know what a louse he is?

I've made excuses for my husband ever since I can remember. It's "Daddy is sick." (Daddy was hungover.) Or, "Daddy didn't come home for supper because he had to work late." (Daddy didn't call to say he wouldn't be home. I don't know where he was, or what he was doing.)

I've said: "We can't afford a new car — or a vacation this year because Daddy needs the money to put back into his business," when the truth was, "Daddy like to gamble."

I ask myself, why should I protect Daddy? When the kids get older, they'll learn the truth anyway.

So, Dear Abby, you're supposed to have all the answers. Can you answer this one?

PROTECTING DADDY
DEAR ABBY: At an age where children believe Daddy is the greatest, what's to be gained by being brutally factual? I don't recommend crowning him with a halo — neither do I support your suggestion that he deserves a noose. Like the Santa Claus myth, children's illusions about Daddy (and Mama) vanish soon enough. Don't shove.

DEAR ABBY: How would you feel if you found your 16-year-old daughter and her 17-year-old boy friend asleep on her bed with the door closed?

ROCKPORT, MASS.
DEAR ROCK: Nervous.

DEAR ABBY: As a minister's wife, I get some really dumb questions, but when someone hands me the money for church rental (for nonmembers) and then asks: "Is there supposed to be a gift for the minister, too?" — well, that's too much.

Where the church is concerned, some people are unbelievably cheap. A minister must pay for his education just as any other professionally trained person must. He drives his car to and from church for counseling sessions, again for rehearsal, and finally for the wedding ceremony. The minister is not part of the rented property.

Would anyone expect the services of a doctor or dentist for a total of five or six hours, and then ask: "Is $5 enough?"

Please urge ministers to set up a scale of fees for members and nonmembers. (The latter seem to think they are entitled to more than members.) And don't be afraid to say: "My fee is —!" And then collect the fee, or send a bill as everyone else does.

MINISTER'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: And to your letter, may I add an appropriate, "AMEN!"

DEAR ABBY: My brother is being married soon. His fiancée asked me to be one of the bridesmaids, and I accepted.

Today I was informed that all the bridesmaids dresses were ORDERED, and mine will cost me $49.95, and I will have to buy shoes to match! The bride didn't discuss the style or color or price with me, she just went ahead and ordered what she wanted. I don't know any of the other bridesmaids as they are her friends, so I don't know if they had anything to say about the choice.

Abby, I don't like paying for a dress I may not like or wear again. I have already purchased a shower gift which cost me $10, and later on there will be a wedding gift. I think this whole thing is getting out of hand.

How can I bow out of this wedding party without making a big stink?

GROOM'S SISTER
DEAR SISTER: You may not be able to. Why not wait until your gown arrives? (You may like it.) If you don't, simply state your objections. They are legitimate.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

New Paltz AAUW Meeting Called

The New Paltz Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at 8 p. m., in the Joe Deyo Room of the Inter-County Savings Bank. The program will be based on PREP (Prison Rehabilitation and Education Program), a group which functions on a national basis.

The award-winning film, "The Odds Against," will be shown. This film traces the emerging life-style of a child into his adulthood, and finally gives an appraisal of the system of penal corrections. Following this, Mrs. John B. Haluska, PREP Chairman for AAUW, will conduct a "Round Table Rap" and present further literature and resource material for those wishing to pursue the subject further. On display will be several paintings done by inmates at the Greenhaven Correctional Facility.

Members are reminded that money for the AAUW Fellowships Program will be raised through the sale of stationery at this meeting. The Daytrippers group will take a trip to Readers' Digest in Pleasantville, on Wednesday, Nov. 7. Information is available from Mrs. Jerome Hurd.

The study group, "Media: Issues in Communication," will meet on November 1st, at 9:45 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Gus Felahi.

AAUW membership is open to any woman holding a baccalaureate degree from an accredited college. Those interested may contact Mrs. Dirk DeWitt, New Paltz.

Prices in effect thru Sat., Oct. 20, 6:00 p.m.

The Colonel's Big Put Down

Folks, I'm Colonel

Harland Sanders . . .

You all know how delicious my finger lickin' good KENTUCKY FRIED CHICKEN is. I'm also sure all of you are aware of what happened to the price of chicken a few months ago. It was enough to scare an old man out of his wits! At that time it was necessary for me to raise my prices. Well, now we have a more adequate supply of chicken and the price has come down, so, I want to pass these lower prices on to you. I called my store manager in Kingston, Bob Wirth and said "BRING 'EM DOWN SON!" and this is just what he's done. Bob has

Clearwater Ready For Pumpkin Sail

KINGSTON — Tonight, members of the Hudson River Sloop Restoration committee will be given a free ride on the historic ship. New members will also be accepted. On Thursday night, a discussion and film program on the pollution of the Hudson River, and Clearwater's involvement to clean it, will be held at Bethany Hall of the Old Dutch Church at 272 Wall Street. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. Local residents, incidentally, are welcome to visit the Clearwater while she is docked in Kingston.

The Clearwater, symbol of the Hudson River Sloop Restoration's continued efforts to cure the pollution of the banks and waters of the Hudson, is now docked in the Rondout Creek, behind the Miron warehouse on the Strand. Numerous activities have been scheduled here before the ship departs with the tide on Friday.

The Clearwater's Harvest Scene Festival — highlighted by the loading of Pumpkins — will begin Friday at 1 p.m. on the Strand in Downtown Kingston. Clearwater will then set sail for New York City, stopping at points along the way to sell pumpkins, raise money and carry its message for a pure and sparkling Hudson River.

Nuclear Dangers Topic of Talk

SAUGERTIES — "If nuclear plants are so safe, why don't Atomic Energy Commission regulations permit them to be built in or near big cities where the power is needed?"

"If they are so safe, why does the AEC require, before granting a license, an escape plan in case of an accident for evacuation of all those living within a large area surrounding the plant?"

"If they are safe, why is there a nuclear exclusion clause in any homeowners insurance policy?"

And, the group added, "David Lilienthal, first commissioner of the Atomic Energy Commission, said if they built a plant within 25 miles of his home, he would move. If he would not run the risk, why should you? He must know the dangers."

Thursday's program is open to the public.

Eugene Eccli, a professor at the State University College at New Paltz and a member of the Citizens Energy Council, will speak on "The Dangers and Alternatives to Nuclear Energy" on Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Dutch Arms Chapel on John Street in Saugerties.

Eccli is this area's regional representative to the Citizens Energy Council, a national organization combatting environmental pollution.

His lecture on Thursday will be sponsored by a committee of Saugerties-area residents concerned about the possible effects of nuclear radiation.

In a statement released recently, the committee said: "You don't have to be a scientist to question the safety of a nuclear plant in your own backyard. You first ask yourself these three questions:

Veterans to Hold Services on Monday

KINGSTON — The program includes an invocation by the Rev. Thomas Smoot, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church; an address by Mayor Francis Koenig; presentation of the flag; a volley from the firing squad furnished by Headquarters Battery, 156th Field Artillery; taps by bugler Peter Ferraro of Local 213, American Federation of Musicians; and the benediction by Mr. Smoot.

In case of inclement weather the service will be held in the Municipal Auditorium.

The Kingston Veterans Association, continuing a past custom, will hold a memorial service at the Veterans Memorial Site in front of the Old City Hall on Broadway on Monday, October 22, beginning at 11 a.m.

Highlight of the service will be a flag presentation by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr., who will present KVA with a flag that has been flown over the Capitol building.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland A's circled the wagons Tuesday night.

The situation was that grim. The A's, used to playing in front of empty seats, were pitted against the New York Mets before 54,817 noisy Shea Stadium fans. They were down to 23 players after owner Charlie Finley banished his latest victim—Mike Andrews—and they were going against Met ace Tom Seaver.

But after falling behind 2-0 in the first inning, they pulled together and refused to crack. They hung in there until it was finally the Mets that committed the miscues that gave the A's a 3-2 triumph in 11 innings and a 2-1 lead in the World Series.

"Even if he fired all but nine players," said starting pitcher Jim "Catfish" Hunter, "the last nine would go out there and battle to the end."

The A's will shoot for a 3-1 lead tonight when they send Ken Holtzman against Jon Matlack in the fourth game of the Series.

The latest Oakland crisis came when Finley, the A's controversial owner, fired Andrews after his two crucial errors in Sunday's second game loss to the Mets. He tried to place him on the disabled list before he was overruled by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Andrews, who was expected to rejoin the club today, told one of his teammates on the phone that Finley had threatened to ruin him in baseball if he didn't sign a paper saying he was injured.

Andrews' teammates were in an uproar and it carried over to the field. "There was a mental block in the back of my mind," admitted Hunter, who was tagged for two runs in the first inning. "I wasn't concentrating enough on my pitches."

But the A's didn't give up. "We're mature guys. We want that $20,000," said Gene Tenace, who doubled in a run after Sal Bando pulled together. "It helps us pull together," said Reggie Jackson. "We always win after these incidents."

Bert Campaneris stole a base in the eighth inning and scored on Joe Rudi's single to tie it. Campaneris finally singled in the deciding run off Harry Grothe's strong throw. "He too slow with his pitching motion," the Cuban-born Campaneris said in his broken English accent. "I watch him and I know I can steal on him."

Tug McGraw blanked the A's through the ninth and 10th innings but Campy won it in the 11th with his single off Parker after Ted Kubiak walked and went to second when Grothe was charged with a passed ball as Angel Mangual struck out.

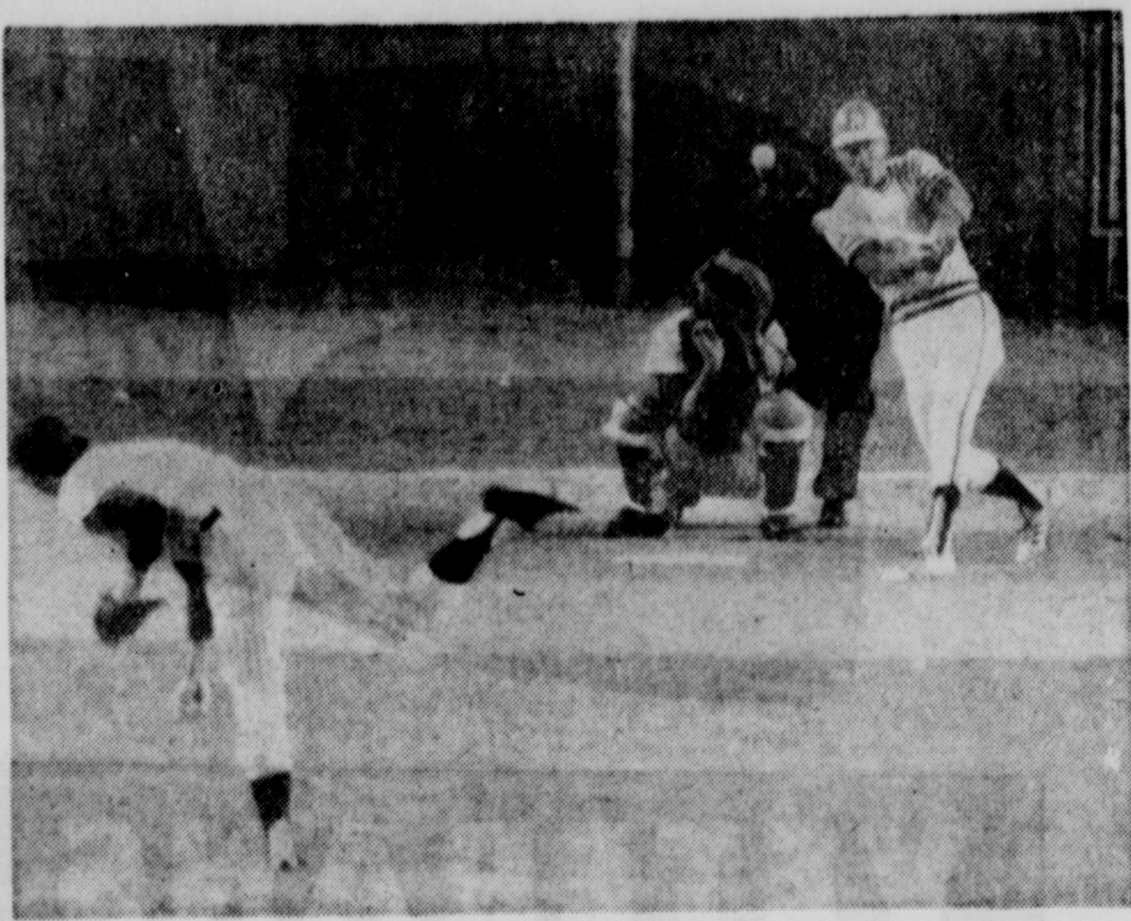

Grote, who doesn't like to talk to newsmen even in the best of times, just glared when asked about the play.

Manager Yogi Berra, a former catcher, said, "it appeared to me as if the ball took off. It was a low fastball and seemed to veer in."

But Parker was willing to shoulder responsibility for the loss. "I walked Kubiak and I gave up the hit to Campy," he said. "It was my fault."

Jackson described Campy as a "money player. When the money's on the line, he's a good pressure player."

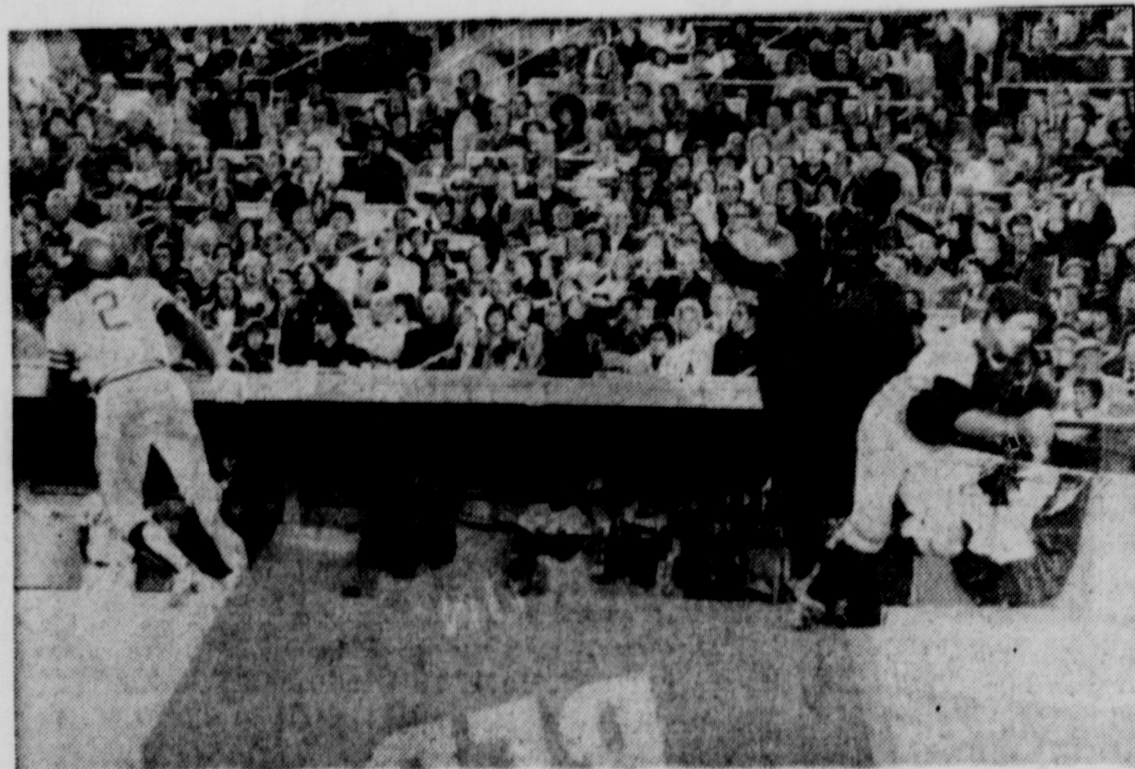

Campy, though, said he didn't

WINNING HIT — Bert Campaneris singles home the winning run in the 11th inning of World Series Game 3 Tuesday night at Shea Stadium. Pitcher is Harry Parker, catcher is Jerry Grote. Final score was 3-2 in favor of the A's. (UPI) Shades of Mickey Owen?

TURNING POINT — Oakland's Angel Mangual strikes out in the 11th inning, but ball gets by Mets' catcher Jerry Grote (R) allowing A's Ted Kubiak to advance to second. Bert Campaneris then singled home for a 3-2 Oakland win. (UPI)

Finley Threatened To 'Destroy' Andrews

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mike Andrews' first reaction was that he, "couldn't believe it," and apparently neither could his Oakland A's teammates.

Words like "revolt" and "mutiny" were in the air

NEW YORK (UPI)—Is Jerry Grote destined to become another Mickey Owen?

History has a funny way of repeating itself, especially when it comes to the World Series.

Grote's passed ball in the 11th inning Tuesday night led to the winning run in the Oakland A's 3-2 victory over the New York Mets and was reminiscent of the 1941 Series when a passed ball by Owen cost the Dodgers the pivotal fourth game and eventually the Series against the Yankees.

Mention Owen's name in New York even now and you'll get a few catcalls. Mention Grote's name today and you're liable to get into a fight.

Grote's faux pas came with Ted Kubiak on first base and Angel Mangual batting with one out in the 11th. Mangual swung and missed at a third strike, the ball got away from the Mets' catcher and Kubiak advanced to second. Bert Campaneris then followed with a single to score Kubiak with the winning run.

In the 1941 Series, the Yankees, leading the Brooklyn Dodgers two games to one, were trailing 4-3 with two out in the ninth of the fourth game when a third strike got past Owen, enabling Tommy Henrich to reach first base safely. The Yankees promptly rallied for four runs to win the game 7-4 and went on to win the Series in five games.

Nobody could offer a precise explanation Tuesday night as to what exactly happened on the passed ball, least of all Grote.

The Mets' catcher, never communicative with the media, made a fast exit from the dressing room following the game, leaving Manager Yogi Berra or losing pitcher Harry Parker to explain what had happened.

"I don't know exactly what happened. I lost the ball momentarily after it left my hand," said Parker. "I thought Mangual might have foul tipped it. It was a fastball and it might have veered in. It looked to me like it hit the glove and bounced."

"I can't blame Jerry, though. Those things happen, and they'll happen again. It was me who gave up the walk to Kubiak and me who gave up the hit to Campaneris. I have no one to blame but myself."

But the rest of the Mets were not without blame. New York had several opportunities to cash in on a two-run first inning but failed to "do the little things" as shortstop Bud Harrelson pointed out.

"We ironed out a few things that had to be ironed out," Williams added.

The Finley-Andrews situation is reminiscent of Finley's dealings with Ken Harrelson in 1967. Harrelson said Finley threatened to "destroy" his career. He called the A's owner "a menace to baseball," was given his unconditional release, received a $72,000 bonus for signing with the Boston Red Sox, and helped them win the American League pennant in 1967.

Andrews was a teammate of Harrelson's in Boston and they are now business partners in a couple of restaurants there.

Who'll Charlie Trade Next?

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Somebody had better hurry up and snap a picture of the Oakland A's quick because they don't expect to be together much longer.

Last year Charlie Finley got rid of eight of his world champions after they had helped him capture baseball's prime bauble.

He may have been only warming up for the main event this time.

If I had to bet, I'd give you odds Dick Williams will be managing some other ball club, most likely the Yankees, next season despite that nice fat new contract he signed recently.

If Reggie Jackson had to bet, he'd bet he'll be with some other ball club also after some of the things he's had to say about the man who runs the A's.

Sal Bando won't be surprised if he's traded this winter. Neither would Gene Tenace, Vida Blue, Blue Moon Odom or Darold Knowles.

Mike Andrews? You gotta be kidding.

He's only coming back to make a brief speech and then he knows he's gone.

About the only one safe is Allan Lewis, the Panamanian Flyer. Charlie Finley really likes him.

"You don't think I'm a 'marked man'?" asked Jackson, talking about the possibility he may be peddled this year. "After some of the things I've said about him (Finley)? I know he's gonna get me. I told him that before the season even started. I know what he's got in mind for me," says Oakland's No. 1 slugger, whom Finley tried to send back to the minors as recently as two seasons ago.

"By the time he gets me though, I'll be financially prepared."

The A's are one of the strangest clubs I've ever seen in baseball.

Here they are only two games away from their second world championship and instead of bubbling over at the prospect, they're flat.

Mostly because of the conditions they work under and the man for whom they work.

Following Tuesday night's 3-2 win over the Mets, Sal Bando was saying how good it felt to "show we could win under adversity," meaning in the face of all the controversy about Mike Andrews, when someone broke in and asked him whether he had asked to be traded.

"I didn't say I want to be traded," said Oakland's slug-ging third baseman. "What I said was I wouldn't look down on it if I was. I'd accept it. Why? For a whole lot of reasons. Lack of communication between the front office and ourselves; some of our traveling conditions or the way we travel; the (Oakland) Coliseum people making things so difficult for us, like for example we need a written order before they can cut the grass. Things like this I'm talking about."

There is really no dissension among the A's.

It is more of an apathy although it would be wrong to say the players aren't doing all they can to win. They are, but with all their differences with Charlie Finley, the Mike Andrews' affair was the last straw.

Some of the A's feel Andrews, persuaded to sign a statement saying he was "disabled," shouldn't even demean himself by rejoining the club. It looks as if he will anyway.

"Basically, I think the club is depressed," says Gene Tenace, hero of the A's' World Series triumph over Cincinnati last year. "Everybody feels for Mike. The guy has one bad inning and look what happened. You know, with everything that's occurred since I joined this club four years ago, I'm surprised we're on top."

year-old second baseman made two costly errors that allowed the Mets to beat the A's in the second game of the World Series. The A's owner tried to put him on the disabled list and got Andrews to sign a statement saying he was disabled.

"The only reason I signed that statement was because he (Finley) threatened to destroy me in baseball and end my career unless I did," Andrews said.

Andrews was expected back in uniform for tonight's fourth game in the Series, which Oakland leads two games to one, and he's also expected to give his version of Sunday night's events.

Finley, Manager Dick Williams, Dr. Harry Walker, the team physician, and Andrews met behind closed doors in the A's clubhouse after Sunday's game and from that meeting, the "disability" statement was produced.

Kuhn, however, refused the claim of disability and censured Finley—for the second time inside of a week—for his handling of the matter.

Williams met with his staff for nearly an hour before Tuesday night's game "to bring our players up to date on the Mike Andrews situation," the manager said.

"We ironed out a few things that had to be ironed out," Williams added.

The Finley-Andrews situation is reminiscent of Finley's dealings with Ken Harrelson in 1967. Harrelson said Finley threatened to "destroy" his career. Meminger Finds the Answer

By United Press International
Dean Meminger, a notorious-ly poor outside shooter, solved his problem . . . for at least one game.

The 6-foot-1 Meminger, playing in place of injured Earl Monroe, sank 12 of his 15 field goal attempts in leading the defending National Basketball Association champion New York Knicks to a 117-91 victory over the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night.

However, 14 of Meminger's 15 shots came either on layups after taking long passes or rebounds of missed shots from right underneath the basket.

"If you don't hustle, you don't get the easy layup," said Meminger. "I'm built awkward."

Senators Down Westchester, 5-0

Ulster Puts It Together

By STEVE KANE

NEW PALTZ

For the first time this year the Senators from Ulster County Community College put together two solid halves of aggressive, relentless soccer, but it didn't make any difference—they won anyway.

"I am very pleased," said winning coach George Vizvary, "and I am impressed."

So were a lot of people who watched the UCCC squad, which today was second in the nation in the NJCAA poll, pound out a 5-0 triumph over Westchester Community. It was an impressive win.

Don LaSota, Byron Cordero and Mario Isaac scored in the first half to give Ulster a 3-0 lead, then freshman whiz Mario Oliva banged two home in the second half to seal the win. They were all good shots, typical of Ulster's blitzkrieg style of play.

The Senators pressed the Vikings early. Utilizing a strong wind at their backs, they kept the ball downfield until LaSota got them on the board at 11:55. Isaac fed LaSota on a short break with a pass angled slightly to the left side. LaSota was covered, but he made the difficult play, keeping control and hitting a small target on the lower right side of the goal with a hard shot.

Cordero, the Mid-Hudson Conference's leading scorer, came right back at 22:35 to let Westchester know it was in for a long afternoon. Curt Nedrick got the assist, but it was a superb individual effort that got the ball in the net.

The unusual play unfolded with Cordero chasing Nedrick's high bouncer right at the Viking goalie. At close range the goalie came out, but Cordero headed the bounce down to confuse his opponent, then ran the ball right into the net.

Two weeks ago, Ulster might have eased up at that point, but this is a much more cohesive unit now. They didn't let up, and Isaac made the point clear with a good second effort only two minutes later.

Oliva set him up with a good pass to center. Isaac hit it hard, over the leaping goalie, but the shot slammed into the crossbar and came right back. Isaac was waiting and just pounded it again. This time the goalie didn't have much to say.

"Did you see that second goal?" Vizvary exclaimed at half-time. "It only took three seconds to clear the length of the field." But there was still some question whether Ulster would continue to attack.

They did, and it was Westchester's goalie who knew it first.

"No, Arturo, no!" he screamed. Evidently, Arturo didn't hear him. Under a little bit of pressure on his own right side, he decided to clear the ball back to his goalie. But Arturo was too far away. Oliva, grinning ear-to-ear, easily intercepted the pass and danced his way to number four.

That shot came at 24:40, and it looked like the game would end that way. It would have but for Oliva. Only one second was left to play when he rammed the fifth goal home, and he had to play tough to get it.

With three Vikings clustered around the ball just in front of the WCC net and all failing desperately to drive it away, Oliva stood in front of them until he had kicked himself an alley. Then he leaned back and drilled his second of the day.

Vizvary said afterwards, "It has taken some time, but they are starting to know each other—to play together. They are building a brotherhood. They are realizing what a good thing it is to play as a team."

And as a team Ulster racked up its first soccer win ever over Westchester. They led in shots-on-goal, 25-5, and corner kicks, 5-2.

Wings Still Seek 1st Win

DETROIT (AP) — "The of the third period gave New Gods aren't smiling at us right now," Detroit Coach Ted Garvin said sullenly, "but they will."

Red Wings fans aren't smiling either, but the St. Louis Blues finally have something to grin about.

The Blues and Wings, only teams in the National Hockey League who hadn't won or tied a game this season, met Tuesday night.

Now Detroit is the only team of the 16 in the league without a tie or victory following St. Louis' 3-2 triumph on a fluke goal by Lou Angotti at 14:55 of the third period.

St. Louis now has a 1-2 record, while the Red Wings are 0-4 for rookie coach Arvin equalling their worst start ever.

The winless Los Angeles Kings and New York Islanders skated to their second tie, 4-4, in the other NHL game Tuesday night.

In the only World Hockey Association game, the Toronto Toros blanked the Los Angeles Sharks 3-0.

"I thought it was our best hockey game," Garvin insisted. "But who the hell would think a goal like that would beat us." It appeared the teams would settle for a tie until Angotti's goal, his second this season. While at the blue line, he deflected an 80-foot shot by Bob Plager and the puck trickled to the right of goalie Roy Edwards, who had lunged to his left to get at Plager's drive.

Helsley Leads Pistol League

ST. REMY — Hugh Helsley's 280 was top individual score of the night as the Ulster County Pistol League opened its season with the Kingston team coming out on top.

Kingston had 1097, Middletown, 1085, Ulster Heights, 1069, New Paltz, 962, Upper Esopus, 1014, and Matchamates, 947.

George Seymour's 274, Phil Siggia's 272, and Frank Steltz' 271 combined with Helsley's 280 gave Kingston its winning total. George Heitz paced Middletown with 277.

Onteora Girls Score Shutout

KYSERIKE — Lee Houseman's goal was the only one Onteora could get past Rondout netminder Deb Linch, but OCS goalie Peggy Fitzsimmons prevented RVC from getting any past her as the Boiceville team scored a 1-0 field hockey victory.

Onteora outshot Rondout, 12-5, in winning its third game against a win and a tie. The Onteora girls are 1-0-1 in the UCL.

Costly Trade

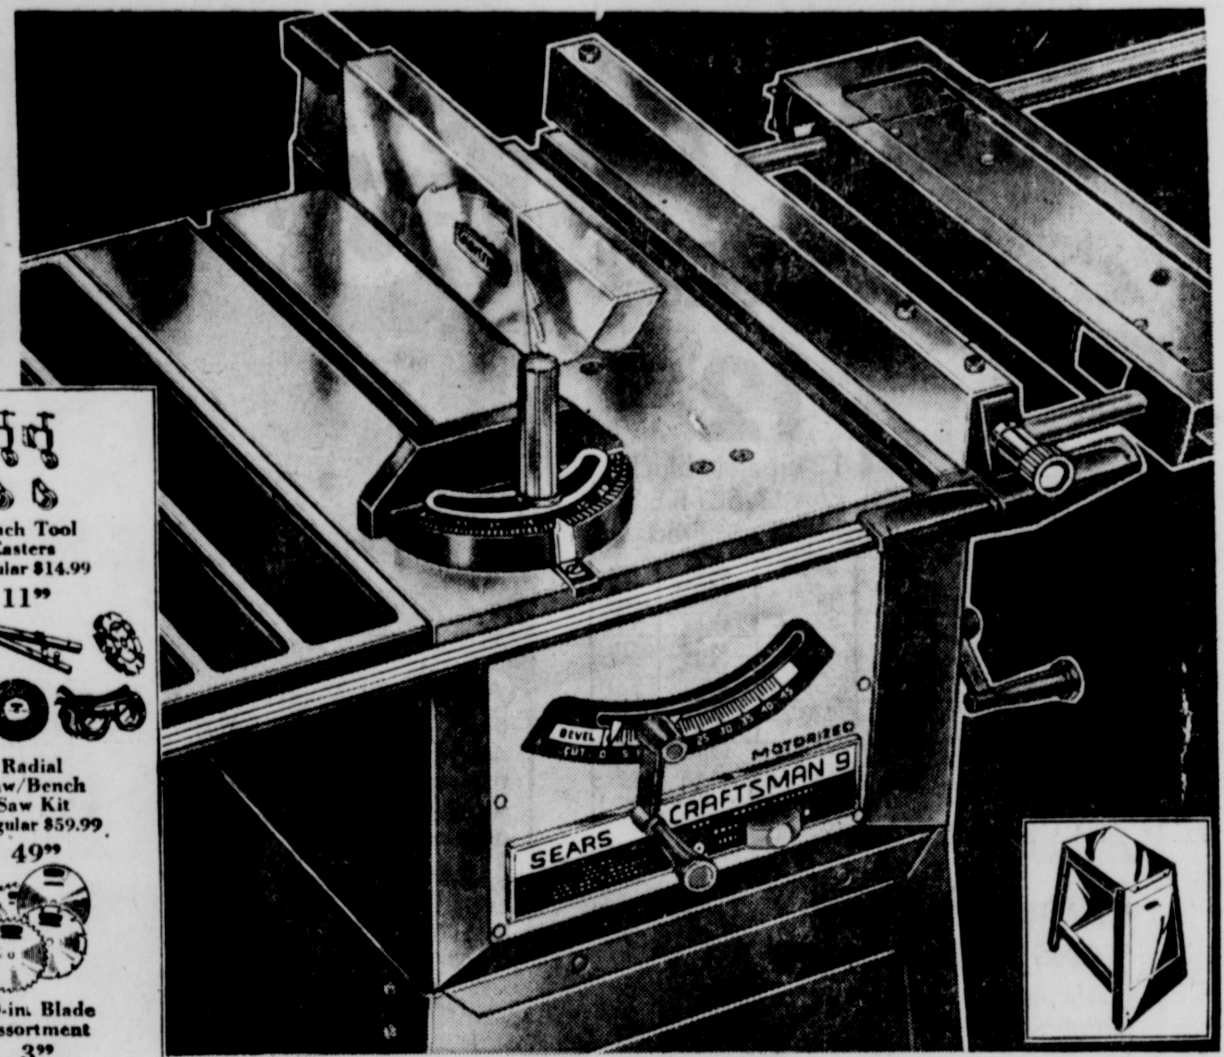

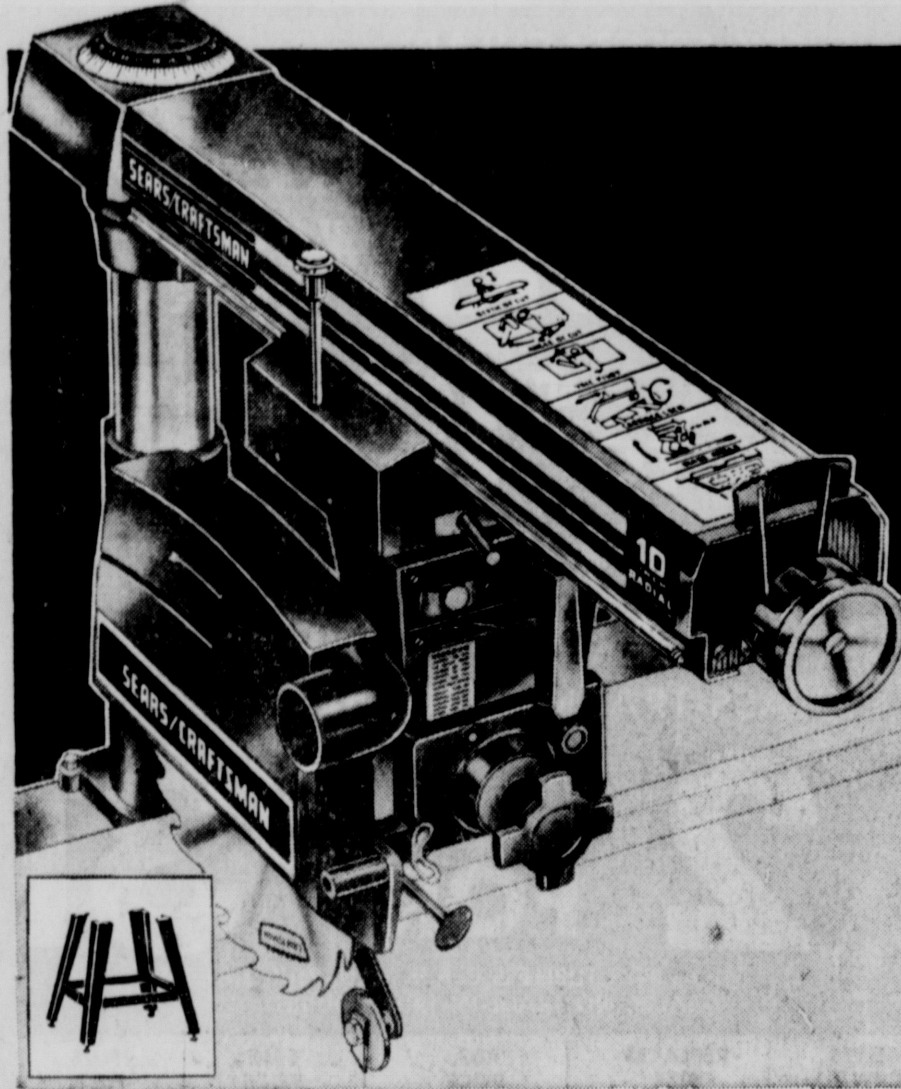

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Baltimore's trading of quarterback Johnny Unitas could cost the Colts plenty. Unitas is suing the team for $725,000, charging General Manager Joe Thomas with engaging in a course of action "designed to embarrass" Unitas.

In UCAL Cross Country

Another Win for Onteora

BOICEVILLE, N.Y. — Bernie Stahl just doesn't know what to do about his Onteora High School cross-country team. It just keeps getting better. Tuesday on the Indian course, every OCS runner posted his best time of the year, and Rich Gross topped them all with a 10:51 time and his first individual victory as the Indians whipped visiting Rondout, 20-39.

In other UCAL action, Pine Bush rolled past New Paltz, 21-39, and Liberty edged Wallkill, 26-29, in the B Division. In the A Division, Coleman remained undefeated with a 15-48 triumph over Fallsburgh. Red Hook stopped Highland, 15-48, and Marlboro beat Ellenville, 19-42.

"They're shocking me too," said Stahl. "Mark Woodward, who's usually right up there, didn't even run today, but they sort of stepped right in to make up for it."

Only a second behind Gross was OCS freshman Bryn Gravel, who finished in 11:06. The team performance of the sea-Steve Adamshick wrapped up on son, Bob Arsenault was the first second and third as the Dukes of five Raiders to hit the tape near their overall record to 7.1. for his first win of the year in Bill Decker and Harris Marcus 14:10. A second back was Mark carried the Ellies in fourth and Gravano, and one more second fifth.

Margaret Court Defaults Match, Is Hospitalized

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPD)—Pro tennis player Margaret Court was reported "uncomfortable but satisfactory" Tuesday after a stomach ailment caused her to default a scheduled match in the Virginia Slims tennis championship and be hospitalized.

Doctors diagnosed the ailment as viral gastroenteritis after the second seeded player was hospitalized in the middle of the night with severe stomach cramps.

Mrs. Court is now out of the $110,000 tournament but three other seeded players moved up after Tuesday's action.

Fourth-seeded Nancy Richey Gunter of San Angelo, Tex., downed Jeanne Evert of Fort Lauderdale, 6-0, 6-2, sixth-seeded Virginia Wade of England beat Laurie Fleming of Fort Lauderdale, 6-1, 6-3 and eighth-seeded Francoise Durr of France defeated Kerry Harris of Australia, 6-2, 6-2.

Eagles Trade Mel Tom

PHILADELPHIA (UPD)—Mel Tom's wish was to be traded and Tuesday the Philadelphia Eagles granted it.

The veteran defensive end was sent to the Chicago Bears for an undisclosed draft choice. He left the team last Wednesday after a dispute with assistant coach Jerry Wampler whom he told, "trade me, fire me or fight me."

The following day he was suspended and later placed on the club's inactive list.

Head Coach Mike McCormack refused to disclose how high the draft choice was, but said it was "in medium range."

"It was just something we couldn't do anything about," McCormack said. "He said he wouldn't play here anymore."

Tom, 6-foot-4 and 249 pounds, had been considered the Eagles' best pass rusher in previous years and was voted the club's Most Valuable Player in his second year as a pro.

The 32-year-old native of Honolulu played college football at San Jose State and was a sixth round draft choice in 1967. This was his seventh year with the Eagles.

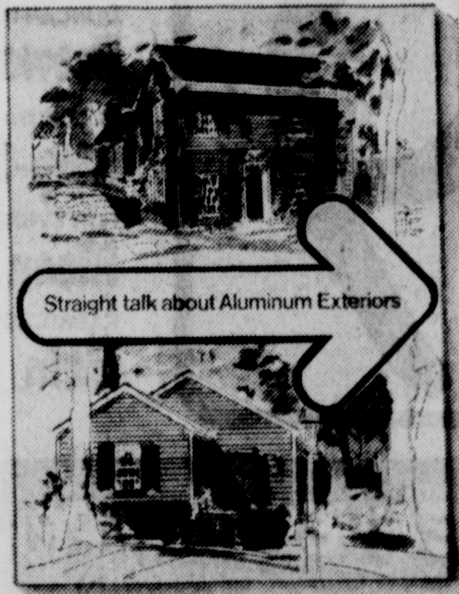

HO-JO's in 2nd Place

SAUGERTIES Howard Johnson's trounced Gunjah Warriors, 22-0, for their fourth win in five starts in the West Division of the SAA Touch Football League. Pier 7 leads with a 4-0 record. In a battle of the have-nots in the East Division, Holy Cross outlasted Alpha Cement, 25-14.

Ho-Jo's quarterback George Suess fired three touchdown passes, hitting Doc Silinovich with a 15-yarder, Norm Gadzinski (13) and Bishop Graham (30).

With Alphas leading Holy Cross, 14-13, in the fourth quarter, Larry Johnson streaked 52 yards for a TD and Tom Beyer added an insurance tally with a 12-yard interception return.

Players of the Week

This week's Daily Freeman Scholastic Football Players of the Week are:

Offense
Tom Engles, Pine Bush quarterback, who engineered a 342 yard, 43 point performance that included three touchdown passes and one touchdown run as the Bushmen came from behind to defeat Marlboro.

Defense
Art Shelghtner, Kingston High defensive end, who recovered two fumbles, one for a touchdown, and received credit for a safety as KHS shutout Roosevelt.

Checking Up on Hoople

There's no stopping our famed gridiron seer Major Amos B. Hoople now.

The Major was a perfect seven-for-seven in area scholastic prognosticating last week, his first 1,000 week since the 1971 season, and lifted his rapidly rising record to 25 correct, eight slightly misjudged, and one deadlocked.

To top it all off, Amos B. also correctly analyzed the Missouri upset over Nebraska in college football.

He'll stop pounding his chest with pride long enough to make this week's picks in Friday's Freeman, un-kumph!

Did Notre Dame Run Up the Score Against Rice?

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: It's particularly interesting that Coach Al Conover of Rice should accuse Notre Dame of trying "to embarrass us" in Saturday's 28-0 victory. interesting because unbeaten Notre Dame's next opponent is winless Army and Tom Cahill remembers a game when Notre Dame's Ara Parseghian did all he could to keep the score down. "They tried to beat us as bad as they could," Conover said after the setback in which Notre Dame outgained Rice 526 yards to 144 but lost four of its five fumbles. He (Parseghian) tried to embarrass us, but he couldn't do it." Conover's postgame remarks, as well as his ploy of inviting area priests to sit on the Rice bench, has created some ill feeling between the two parties.

"I have no idea what he's referring to," Parseghian replied Monday. "We were only ahead 14-0 at the half. We had the second team in during the fourth quarter and they scored one touchdown on a 38-yard run. "I've always had great respect for Rice, especially when Jess Neely was coaching there, but I don't share that same feeling for Rice today. "As for the rests on their bench, that sort of gimmickry is the kind of thing Conover has been doing. But blocking and tackling is what wins games, not gimmickry." Army's Cahill says that "a 28-0 lead doesn't warrant pulling out your horses. If they had blown a lead everyone would be asking what's the matter with Coach Parseghian." The whole business of whoping scores is on Cahill's mind. Cahill harks back to 1964 when the Cadets compiled an 8-2 record and Cahill was named

Coach of the Year. One of the two losses was 35-0 to Notre Dame. "That game is deeply ingrained on my mind," he says. "We had lost to Tennessee 38-7 and Notre Dame could have exceeded that score. It was 35-0 at the half and that's the way it ended."

Hard Work Paying Off for Unbeaten Los Angeles Rams

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Harold Jackson, the noted Hattiesburg, Miss., clothing store proprietor, says he's not surprised at the Los Angeles Rams.

"I knew we'd be a good club," the little Ram wide receiver noted. "I felt all along we had the personnel. It was just a matter of hard work."

The 25 other clubs in the National Football League probably won't agree with Jackson, though. The Rams just weren't supposed to be 5-0 after five weeks.

Not after a 6-7-1 record in 1972 and a 2-3-1 exhibition mark.

But the success of the six-year pro from Jackson State in his second go-around with the Rams is no surprise.

A 5-foot-10, 175-pounder who returned here in the big off-season deal that sent Roman Gabriel to Philadelphia, Jackson outsped the Dallas secondary four times last weekend for four touchdowns. The Rams won 37-31.

He wound up with seven receptions for 238 yards, all from veteran quarterback John Hadl. It was his best day as a pro. Playing for the Eagles, he once caught three TD passes and gained 197 yards via the air.

"I go into every game feeling I can beat the defense on every play on every pattern," said Jackson.

The deal for the small wide receiver and running back Tony Baker plus two first round draft choices along with a third round pick for Gabriel has turned out to be a big plus for Los Angeles.

"When we made the trade for Harold Jackson," said first-year head coach Chuck Knox, "we knew his ability."

Jackson didn't get a chance to really show what he could do in the Rams' first four games as Knox chose to stick on the ground. Against Dallas, a team that defends superbly against the run, it was a different story. Knox ordered Hadl to go to the air.

Jackson was the No. 1 pass catcher in the NFL last season with 62 catches for 1,048 yards, a 16.9 average.

In his first five games this year, he has 16 receptions for 423 yards—and eight touchdowns, four more than he had with the 1972 Eagles.

Jackson obviously doesn't think he's too small. In fact, he feels his lack of size is an advantage.

"Little guys have the edge in pass offense today," he offered. "People talk about big targets but what the passer wants is an open target and I've learned how to get open."

His formula? "Speed and moves," replied Jackson.

Globetrotters Boast Ex-College Scoring Whiz

STONE RIDGE
One of the stars of the Harlem Globetrotters who will play Oct. 25 at Ulster County Community College will be Hubert "Geese" Ausbie, formerly the No. 3 scorer in the nation while in college.

The game, pitting the Globetrotters against the New York Nationals, is being sponsored by the UCCC Alumni Association. It will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Senate Gymnasium.

Ausbie, who makes his home in Little Rock, Ark., stays in shape during the off-season through a program which includes exercise, proper diet, playing golf and one other thing. "I run at least eight miles a day every day during the off-season," he says.

Ausbie has been on the go since he joined the Globetrotters following a successful college career at Philander Smith College in Little Rock.

He was one of the finest baseball players ever to compete on the high school level in his native state of Oklahoma. Following high school he turned down an offer from the St. Louis Cardinals to pitch in their minor league system.

While at Philander Smith, Ausbie set nearly every school scoring record, while finishing No. 3 in the nation in scoring.

Joining Ausbie on the court for the Trotter game at UCCC will be Globetrotter player-coach Marques Haynes, dribbling specialist Pablo Robertson and former Kansas State All American Jerry Venable.

Yonkers Raceway Opens

YONKERS
Yonkers Raceway is back in action tonight with a new look in the clubhouse and a $40,000 stake out on the track.

The upper levels of the clubhouse have been completely glass enclosed for winter racing and air-conditioning has been installed for the spring and summer meets. The area, on the fourth and fifth floors, holds 1,700 seats which were rarely used during the winter months.

"We've done a lot of work throughout the plant since Yonkers was last open and we hope it will be that much more comfortable to our patrons," said track president, Timothy Rooney. "Weather is always a hazard when racing late in the year. This new enclosure should alleviate some of the problems."

The upper sections have been surrounded by approximately 200 feet of tempered, unbreakable glass that cover 30 feet in height and rise 60 feet above ground level. In addition, 600 tons of air-conditioning units have been installed to provide both levels as well as the main floor of the clubhouse with year-round temperature control.

Out on the track, a non-betting New York Sires Stake for 2-year-old trotting colts will initiate the racing program at 7:30 tonight. The small field — only four will go — necessitated the non-wagering status.

Frank Sullivan, a Sharpshooter colt owned by Saratoga Raceway President Ernest Morris, will start from the rail for catch driver Jack Smith. The Arden Homestead Stable's Happy Warrior (also by Sharpshooter) drew post two for Hall of Fame trainer-driver Ralph Baldwin. John Patterson, Sr.'s Lullwater Song and Abraham Schultz's Jefferson Pump will leave from the three and four slots. Jefferson Pump, with a mark of 2:05 215 and close to $50,000 in earnings, has been the most successful of the quartet.

The betting feature is also a trot, a B-2 event for a $6,000 purse. Fast Streak, owned and driven by Jimmy Cruise, is 3-1 on the morning line off a wire-to-wire win in his final appearance at Roosevelt.

Rudy Jackson Is Ineligible

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)—Rudy Jackson, star center at Hutchinson Junior College last year, Monday was declared ineligible to play basketball at Wichita State University because he lacks a high school diploma.

Ted Bredehoft, Wichita State athletic director, said Jackson apparently had not graduated from his New York City high school when he enrolled at Hutchinson.

Bredehoft said Steve Shalen, a graduate assistant at Wichita State, was fired Monday for falsifying Jackson's high school transcript to include his graduation.

The Missouri Valley Conference is investigating the situation, according to Dave Franson, sports information director at Wichita State.

Jackson, a 6-9 sophomore, transferred to Wichita State last spring.

Bredehoft said Jackson will be required to take the high school equivalency test before further action is taken.

Rondout Schools Set Open House

KYSERIKE The four elementary schools in the Rondout Valley Central District will hold open houses in observance of American Education Week 1973 Tuesday night, Oct. 23. District residents may attend, and to "Get Involved" in the goals of education.

At the Accord School, program will begin with a short meeting at 7:30 p. m., which will include the introduction of new teachers. The guest speaker, Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Robertaccia, will discuss the Resource Room.

Parents will visit their children's classrooms in three groups, at 15-minute intervals: Kindergarten and Grade 2, Grades 1 and 3, and Grade 4. Teachers will talk about class schedules and programs.

Teachers, when not in their classrooms meeting with parents, will be in the auditorium, where there will be two showings of a slide program about

Morse Meeting

Grant D. Morse School parents and teachers will get together for an open house at the school in Saugerties Tuesday, Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m.

Following the meeting, a bake sale will be held, according to Edith E. Winter, publicity chairman.

the Accord School, accompanied by a cassette talk on the year's activities. Parents may visit the library, where they may talk with the librarian, and the gym, music, and art teachers.

The children in the Kerhonkson School will be writing personal invitations to their parents and grandparents to visit their open house, which will begin at 7:30 p. m. Classrooms will be open from 7:30 to 8:30, and student work will be displayed. The school's PTA will provide refreshments.

Children, parents, and friends may visit the Marbletown School from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Exhibits of student work will be on display, and teachers will be on hand to talk with visitors.

The Open House program at the Rosendale School will be from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Visitors will meet the teachers and hear a discussion of grade level programs. In addition to the Open House, parents of children in kindergarten through Grade 2 will be guests at a coffee hour from 10-11 a.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 23. The primary reading program will be discussed. From 10 to 11 on Thursday morning, Oct. 25, a coffee hour for third and fourth grade parents will be devoted to the reading and health programs.

BOCES Seminar Starts 13th Year

NEW PALTZ Senior Seminar students from Ulster County high schools and their parents met at the State University in New Paltz recently for a session which launched the 13th year that this program has been in operation.

Senior Seminar is a joint project of the Secondary Principals' Council of the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services and the State University College at New Paltz.

Dr. Stanley Coffman, President of the University, welcomed the group and shared his enthusiasm and best wishes for the success of this project. He then remained as a participant in this orientation session in which students and parents had their first seminar experience on the topic, Perceptions of Cultural Differences: Asian American Viewpoints.

This year, 50 high school seniors in Ulster County are participating in the program featuring a series of 10 meetings and a field trip on topics related to humanities, arts and sciences. These seminars reflect current topics of interest that are presented by acknowledged authorities in the field and prominent guest speakers. In the past, topics were used such as Psychodrama, Role Playing and Human Relations; and Religion in an Era of Social Change. This year's seminars include: Film Making: New Directions; and Meditation: A Guide to Self Awareness.

With but a few exceptions, the seniors have scored at, or above, the 96th percentile in the Composite Score of the National Merit Scholarship Examination. Each student's academic record is closely reviewed, and a final recommendation is received from his high school principal.

The guest speaker on the theme of Asian American Viewpoints was Dr. Seymour Fersh, Education Director of the Asia Society. Before joining the Asia Society in 1961, Dr. Fersh taught at New Paltz High School and at Montclair State College. For six summers, he was the associate director of the Asia Institute at Rutgers University and more recently has been a visiting professor for brief periods during the summer at Bucknell, Seton Hall, Hamline, Berkely and the University of Massachusetts, Illinois, South Carolina and Hawaii. He also serves as a consultant to schools and colleges throughout the United States.

In 1958-59, Dr. Fersh was a Fulbright professor in India and in the summer of 1962, he served in Paris with UNESCO. In 1968, for six weeks he visited most of Asia, including the Soviet Union. For a month in 1972, he was on a study tour of Japan. He is the author of many articles and three books: The View From the White House — A Study of the Annual Message to Congress, The Story of India, and India and South Asia.

The participating districts are Ellenville, Highland, New Paltz, Ontonagon, Rondout Valley, Saugerties, and the Wallkill Central Schools. For further information about the Senior Seminar Program, you may contact Leon Greenberg, Coordinator, at Ulster BOCES.

NOTICE OF SALE
INDEX NO. 73/127
In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale duly made and entered in the above entitled action, bearing date the 27th day of September, 1973, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the Court House in the City of Kingston and County of Ulster, New York, on the 5th day of November, 1973, 11:00 in the forenoon of that day the premises directed by said judgment to be sold and therein described being as follows:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situated in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster and State of New York, and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron pipe set near the southerly side of a drive and being 32.6 feet northeasterly of the northeasterly corner of the same lot, said pipe being also about 146 feet as measured along the drive northeasterly from the middle of the state road from Rosendale to High Falls, thence from the said pipe through the lands of Delloy Realty Corporation as follows: N. 58 degrees 42 minutes west 29.0 feet to a wire fence 207.3 feet to an iron pipe set in a ditch about 18 feet beyond a large tree; thence north 70 degrees 24 minutes west 391.00 feet side from road to a wire fence and near the foot of a hill near some large stones; thence north 41 degrees 45 minutes east 225.00 feet to an iron pipe set between the northeasterly pair of two sets of large bolts at the foot of a hill near some large stones; thence south 38 degrees 53 minutes east 58.3 feet to an iron pipe set at the top of the slope and about 40 feet northerly of the northeasterly corner of the bungalow and also being 55.6 feet northerly of the northeasterly corner of the same; thence south 38 degrees 53 minutes east, passing on the westerly side of the foot of a hill near some large stones; thence 219.6 feet to an iron pipe set; thence south 43 degrees 40 minutes west 48.7 feet to the place of beginning, containing 2.0 acres, more or less. The bearings herein refer to the magnetic meridian as it pointed in 1950 and as surveyed in 1952.

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND, situated in the Town of Rosendale, County of Ulster and State of New York, and more particularly bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING at an iron pipe set near the southerly side of a drive and being 32.2 feet easterly of the most northerly corner of a large barn, said pipe being also about 146 feet as measured along the drive northeasterly from the middle of the state road from Rosendale to High Falls, thence from the said pipe through the lands of Delloy Realty Corporation as follows: N. 58 degrees 42 minutes west 29.0 feet to a wire fence 207.3 feet to an iron pipe set in a lane about 18 feet beyond a large tree; thence north 70 degrees 24 minutes west 391.00 feet to an iron pipe set at the top of the slope and about 40 feet northerly of the northeasterly corner of the bungalow and also being 55.6 feet northerly of the northeasterly corner of the same; thence south 38 degrees 53 minutes east, passing on the westerly side of the foot of a hill near some large stones; thence 219.6 feet to an iron pipe set; thence south 43 degrees 40 minutes west 48.7 feet to the place of beginning, containing 2.0 acres, more or less. The bearings herein refer to the magnetic meridian as it pointed in 1950 and as surveyed in 1952.

ALSO ANOTHER PIECE OR PARCEL OF LAND, being a part of the tract conveyed to the Delloy Realty Company, Inc. by Sam May as heretofore referred to, which piece is more particularly described as follows:

COMMENCING at an iron pipe set at the southerly line of the Ranch Type House property at a point 146 feet distant from the State Road and running southeasterly along said State Road 25 feet; thence northeasterly and parallel to said first mentioned line 146 feet to the southerly line of the Ranch Type House property, thence southeasterly along said line 48.7 feet to the place of beginning. Both parcels being contiguous to each other.

Being the same premises conveyed by Josepa Puccio to Roscoe H. Playford and Linda I. Playford, his wife, by deed dated October 26, 1971 and to be recorded in the County Clerk's Office simultaneously with this mortgage which is given to secure the purchase price.

Masterson Reading at Paltz

NEW PALTZ Daniel Masterson, known as "the poet in action," will conduct a seminar and give a poetry reading at the State University College at New Paltz on Thursday, Oct. 18.

The seminar is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. and the reading for 8:30 p.m., both at Sojourner Truth Library. The appearance is part of the Poetry Series of the Lecture Committee, an arm of the Student Government Association, and is co-sponsored by the campus poetry magazine Wings, the Media Review Board and the President's Office.

Masterson has published poems in Esquire, London Magazine, the New Orleans Review and Canadian Forum, and two of his works were published in the 1973 Random House anthology "Contemporary Poetry in America."

A former disc jockey and newscaster in Buffalo, he is now professor of English at Rockland Community College and a scholar in residence for Nassau County. He is the subject of a half-hour NBC film "The Poet in Action" now making the rounds of college campuses, and he gives frequent readings around the state under the auspices of the New York State Council on the Arts.

He is also a frequent host for readings at the NYC-YMHA Poetry Center in Manhattan. He was one of 45 United States poets to participate in the World Poetry Conference at the State University of New York at Stony Brook.

A student concert of new compositions and music for winds and brasses will be given at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 24 at Rebecca McKenna Theatre on the campus of the State University College at New Paltz. The program will include three works by David Budmer, David Denhard and Michael Hoffmann. All the pieces are for string quartet and were written for the composition class of Gundaris Pone.

Major works for French horn and for clarinet will also be performed, including sonatas by Francis Poulenc, Bernhard Heiden and Samuel Adler. Clarinetists Michael Fowler, Richard Greenberg and Philip Simone from the class of Peter Alexander will be heard, as will horn players Janice Sloan and William Amrod from William McCann's class.

The concert, presented by the Department of Music, will be free and is open to the public.

If you want to overbid and have your partner's blessing you should first make sure that you know how to play the dummy.

South's four-club bid was brilliant. It takes brilliance to rebid a four-card suit. South's seven club call was super-brilliant.

He bid something he could make but his play left him one trick short.

South started proceedings by drawing trumps with three leads. They cashed dummy's ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. After this he struggled along for several minutes but could not find a way to make all the tricks.

Actually, the grand slam was a cinch. He needed to use a play known as a dummy reversal.

He should win the first club in his hand; lead a diamond to dummy's ace and ruff a diamond high. Then he could enter dummy with either a spade or a heart and ruff the last diamond with another high trump.

After that he would lead his deuce of trumps to dummy, play out dummy's last two trumps while discarding a low heart and a low spade from his own hand. Then he could claim the rest of the tricks with high cards.

Where did that extra trick come from? From the trump suit of course. He would have made four natural trump tricks plus two ruffs in his own hand for a total of six against the five he made by his own line of play.

SEX DEBATE: (Q.) Geoff and I love each other very much, but we are always fighting over one detail. I have told him nearly every night for months that I don't believe in premarital sex. On every date he asks me why not.

Please tell me some good reasons I can give him why not, even though I love him deeply. We plan not to marry for at least four years, after we get out of college. We want to be very sure before we do marry.—No on Every Date in North Carolina.

(A.) Premarital sex is not a detail. It is very important. There are many good reasons to decide against it: Religion, pregnancy, reputation, guilt feelings, misunderstandings, on and on.

But I do not believe Geoff is looking for valid reasons NOT to. I believe he is going to keep after you in hope that he can wear you down, and that you are not going to make it for four years—unless you break it off now, which I urge you to do!

11 O'CLOCK: (Q.) How late do you think a girl of 15 should be allowed to stay out on a date? All my friends can stay out 'til midnight or 12:30 a.m. but I have to be in the house at 11.

It is embarrassing, especially on double-dates. I live a good 30 minutes from the movies, bowling alley, pizza places, etc. If I leave home at 8, I get there at 8:30, and have to leave at 10:30. Please help.—Too Early in Louisiana.

(A.) How late you stay out should be decided at times by where you're going. If it's impossible to see a movie and get home at 11, then your time for that evening should be adjusted to 11:30.

But I do NOT believe a 15-year-old girl should be out on dates until midnight or later as a regular thing.

Will Receive Award With Tho on Dec. 10

Kissinger Moved Over Nobel Prize

THO AND KISSINGER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry A. Kissinger is becoming the fifth U.S. secretary of state to win the Nobel Peace Prize was the highlight of his public life.

"Nothing that has happened to me in public life has moved me more than this award," Kissinger told reporters Tuesday after receiving word of the honor. Kissinger shared the award and the $122,000 in cash that goes with it with North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho for their part in settling the Vietnam war.

Kissinger was informed of the award while he was meeting at the White House with the Washington Special Action Group to discuss the Middle East crisis.

Kissinger, 50, who was sworn in as secretary of state Sept. 22, and President Nixon, who also was nominated for the prize, used the occasion to express hope for Arab-Israeli peace.

"Nothing could underline so much that the search for peace is never ended," Kissinger said.

"And nothing now could give us a greater impetus to work with even more energy and more dedication to end the hostilities that are now going on in the Middle East."

Nixon said it was his "fervent hope that the era of negotiations of the 1970s and the negotiation this award recognized will be capped by a just and lasting peace in Southeast Asia, in the Mideast and throughout the world."

State Department officials said Kissinger planned to be in Oslo, Norway, Dec. 10 to receive the award.

"When I shall receive this award with my old colleague, Le Duc Tho, I hope that it will mark the end of anguish and suffering that Vietnam has represented to so many people around the world."

Kissinger said he was grateful to President Nixon for creating the atmosphere which made an end to the Vietnam war possible and giving him the opportunity to perform the foreign policy role which led to the award.

Giving the Nobel Peace Prize to Le Duc Tho of North Vietnam was "similar to granting the title chastity to a prostitute," said a spokesman for the South Vietnamese government. Historian Henry S. Commager called the award to Henry A. Kissinger "highly improper and misguided."

There also were good words for the joint selections, although the New York Daily News called the timing of the announcement "a touch of irony" because of the latest war in the Middle East. "It was a surprising choice," the News said, "though certainly a merited one in Dr. Kissinger's case."

President Nixon praised Kissinger "for his richly deserved selection."

Brig. Gen. John P. Flynn of the Air Force, the highest ranking American prisoner of war held by the Communists in Vietnam, said he agreed completely with the award of the prize to Kissinger. He added, "I hope Le Duc Tho attempts to get his government to live up to the stated agreement concerning the peace in Vietnam and especially that portion that deals with strict accounting of all the missing in action and no interference with the affairs of the south."

In Paris, a spokesman for the Viet Cong said Le Duc Tho made a "great contribution" to achieving the uneasy cease-fire in Vietnam, "the agreement which has been violated very seriously by the United States and the Saigon administration."

According to Saigon command figures, 47,376 Vietnamese on both sides have been killed since the cease-fire began Jan. 28. Some 45,944 Americans were killed during the entire war.

Bui Bao Truc, the Saigon government spokesman, said "the act of giving the Nobel prize to Le Duc Tho is similar to granting the title chastity to a prostitute or a pimp." Truc did not mention Kissinger at all.

Prof. George Wald of Harvard, who has won the Nobel Prize for science, called the award "an absolute disgrace." He said the Nixon administration's Vietnam policy, which Kissinger drew up, was characterized by "brutal, heartless murders."

Commager, the noted Amherst College history professor, said, "I think the award to Mr. Kissinger was highly improper and misguided. I think ignoring Mr. Kissinger's part in the conduct of this war, conduct not only illegal but deeply immoral and barbarous, gives a sort of retroactive authorization to wars of that kind. . . . Mr. Kissinger does not to my mind deserve a peace prize as much as a war prize."

The New York Times in an editorial said the award was "at the very least, premature." Secretary Kissinger... may by the end of his career amply warrant the award already won... that, however, remains conjectural, a reservation that remains at least equally applicable to the Le Duc Tho share in the award."

U.S. Primary Target of Arab Oil Freeze

KUWAIT (UPI) — Ministers of Arab oil-producing nations, gathered today to reach joint decisions on the role of Arab oil and its Western supporters in the war, will freeze production at current levels but will not impose supply cutoffs, Arab oil sources said today.

The sources said the United States will be the primary target.

Oil ministers of the Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries (OAPEC) gathered today to reach joint decisions on the role of Arab oil in the 1973 Middle East war.

The ministers have before them a wide range of proposals—from shutting off their oil supplies completely to a mix of price increases, reductions in production and financial aid to Egypt and Syria.

Tuesday night in Kuwait, the Organization of Oil Producing Countries (OPEC), a group similar to but larger than OAPEC, announced a 17 per cent increase in its crude oil prices. The hike was under discussion before the current war broke out, but observers considered the timing of the announcement significant.

Several Arab oil-producing countries, Saudi Arabia included, belong to both groups. Saudi Arabia is considered the leading influence on decisions reached at today's OAPEC meeting.

"Oil has a most important role in the battle," Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, the Saudi Arabian oil minister, said on his arrival for the meeting.

"I have brought with me specific proposals for the use of oil in the battle against Israel," Yamani said. He would not say what they were.

In reply to questions, the Harvard-educated minister said his government preferred to decrease exports of oil to countries supporting Israel rather than 'stop production altogether, which would seriously effect his country's oil sales income."

Yamani declined to discuss the details of his proposals, but oil sources said they would include at least a 10 per cent reduction in Saudi oil production. Under plans existing until early this year, Saudi Arabia was to have almost tripled production over the next 10 years to meet projected U.S. consumption.

Oil sources said the Arab-Israeli war and the U.S. decision to replace Israel's losses in material had hardened the Arab oil producers' stand against the United States.

President Nixon has announced long-range plans to avoid future U.S. dependence on Arab oil but an American oil magazine, "Oil and Gas Journal," has said there is little the United States can do to offset a cutoff of oil from the Middle East.

The magazine said the United States could increase domestic output by nearly 600,000 barrels a day over a six-month period. But it already imports more than 1 million barrels a day from the Arab countries and still faces an acute power shortage.

Ford Denies He Had Psychiatric Treatment

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice presidential nominee Gerald R. Ford has denied as "categorically inaccurate" a report in a book that he received psychiatric treatment for at least a year.

He also gave his version of a published report that he helped get G. Gordon Liddy, later convicted as a "Watergate conspirator, a White House job in 1968."

Meanwhile, the Senate Rules Committee Tuesday asked President Nixon to authorize an audit of Ford's income taxes for the past three years and for authority for the committee to examine the nominee's tax returns for the last seven years.

Chairman Howard W. Cannon Jr., D-Nev., said the Rules Committee probably will open hearings on the nomination around Oct. 30, which he expects to last from two to five days. He said he also had asked the General Accounting Office and Library of Congress for information on Ford and has requested Ford to submit a financial statement. Ford already has said publicly he would provide that.

Newsmen asked the House GOP leader Tuesday about a report in a 1972 book, "Washington Pay-Off" by Robert N. Winter-Berger, that he had been a patient of Dr. Arnold Hutschnecker of New York for "at least a year."

The late columnist Drew Pearson claimed Hutschnecker gave psychiatric treatment to Richard M. Nixon.

Ford said Winter-Berger had once asked him to pay a "courtesy call" on Hutschnecker.

Ford said he (Winter-Berger) wanted to impress Hutschnecker with people he knew in Washington, and when I was in New York on a speaking engagement I dropped into his office and met him," Ford said. "We talked about 15 minutes and that was all. The claim that I was a patient is categorically inaccurate."

"I don't even recall what our conversation was about," Ford said. "It was a courtesy call, that's all."

Ford said that among the many congratulatory telegrams he got after his nomination

Friday was one from Hutschnecker.

In New York, Hutschnecker told a reporter he had never treated Ford — "The allegation is totally untrue and only in the wild imagination of the writer," Hutschnecker said. He was acquainted with Winter-Berger: "I had the unfortunate luck to meet him at a dinner party about seven or eight years ago."

Ford said he became acquainted with Liddy in 1966 when Liddy was a Conservative party candidate for Congress in New York State and Ford went there to speak on behalf of Rep.

Liddy ran again in 1968, and Ford again went to Fish's district.

Ford said local Republicans asked him to find a job for Liddy in Washington in return for which Liddy would not campaign actively against Fish. He said he called Eugene Rossides, then in charge of the White House "talent office" and now assistant secretary of the Treasury, and told him Liddy was an ex-FBI agent available for a job.

"That was the last I heard about it until I found out later that he had been hired," Ford said.

Atlanta Gets First Black Mayor

MAYOR-ELECT JACKSON... an early winner

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Maynard Jackson says his election as Atlanta's first black mayor is "a resounding affirmation of the principles of unity and brotherhood that have helped make Atlanta truly a city too busy to hate."

Jackson piled up an overwhelming lead in predominantly black precincts to unseat Mayor Sam Massell in their runoff election Tuesday.

Ironically, Massell won virtually all of the black precincts four years ago to become the city's first Jewish mayor. At the same time, Jackson was elected vice mayor.

Unofficial returns, including absentee ballots, gave Jackson 74,404 votes to 51,237 for Massell.

Jackson's percentage of the vote in predominantly white precincts was not immediately determined.

White moderate Wyche Fowler swamped black civil rights activist Hosea Williams, 78,209 to 44,017, for the presidency of the city council. Blacks won nine of the 18 seats on the council.

The election left the city's top leadership one of the youngest in history. Jackson is 35, Fowler 33.

Jackson swept to a first-place finish among 11 candidates in the general election Oct. 2. He polled 46.6 per cent of the vote then; Massell was runner-up with 19.8 per cent.

The election climaxed a bitter two-week runoff election campaign in which race was the prime issue. Massell attempted to link Jackson with Williams and said the "Jackson-Williams team" in the runoff "scared Atlantans to death."

At one point, Massell said, "I just have the guts to say a black man can be bad, just like whites can."

Jackson accused Massell of attempting to polarize the city along racial lines. Blacks account for slightly more than 50 per cent of the population and for 48.5 per cent of the 206,270 registered voters.

Judge Sirica Refuses Bail

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The five original Watergate defendants, who have been in jail since they pleaded guilty last January, have been refused permission to go free on bond pending their final sentencing.

In a sometimes heated two-hour hearing Tuesday, U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica turned down attempts by defense attorneys to obtain bail for their clients. Sirica said the five men "knowingly, intentionally and voluntarily" pleaded guilty during their trial.

Sirica, however, did set hearings for Oct. 29 and Nov. 5 on motions by the five to change their pleas to innocent. Sirica said if he turned down the request for plea changing, he would pronounce final sentence shortly thereafter.

The five, E. Howard Hunt, Bernard L. Barker, Frank Sturgis, Eugenio Martinez and

Virgilio Gonzalez, were sentenced to provisional terms of maximum length by Sirica following their guilty pleas.

Sirica and Sidney Sachs, who represented Hunt, the alleged mastermind of the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters June 17, 1972, got into several heated arguments about the defense's contention that the five committed no illegal acts because they believed the break-in was authorized by "high government officials" and in the national interest.

At one point an angry Sirica told Sachs that Hunt "knew what he was doing."

"We have here a man who is astute and intelligent. He has written 40 books or more. He's a college graduate. We don't have a young man or a boy who was raised in the ghetto so to speak who doesn't know the ways of life."

"He's in jail of his own doing," Sirica said of Hunt. "I didn't break into the Democratic headquarters, He did."
